Poisoned Fish Cause Death

Space A-Blasts Produced Huge Radiation Belts

100 Miles Thick, Scientists Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sheet of radiation produced by last fall's high-altitude U.S. nuclear explosions was about 100 miles thick and extended to altitudes as high as 4,000 miles above the earth.

This was reported at the White House Wednesday by Defense Department and International Geophysical Year scientists. They declared the scientific aspects of the experiments are regarded by many participants as "one of the major achievements" of IGY.

The scientists said some of the electrons emitted at the time of the test might still be circulating at extremely high altitudes, although virtually all the radiation belt has long since disappeared.

Dr. Herbert York, research and engineering director of the Defense Department, said the radiation produced by the explosion of the high-altitude bombs was comparable in intensity with that of the natural Van Allen radiation belts in space.

Space Flight Hazard?

The Van Allen radiation belts—named for their discoverer, Dr. James A. Van Allen of the University of Iowa—are two doughnut shaped bands at extreme altitudes above the earth. They are considered a potential hazard to future space flight unless practical news means are found to circumvent them.

The scientists held a news conference and released a prepared formal report on scientific aspects of the tests.

The report said that one of the scientific benefits of the tests was that they provided a sound basis for interpreting the natural or Van Allen radiation track around the earth.

Neither the formal report nor the statements by York and the IGY scientists, went into military aspects of the high-altitude nuclear shots.

Computations Confirmed

The report said the experiment had confirmed previous computations of the earth's magnetic field into space which were based on measurements made from the ground.

"The experiment," the report said, "has made it possible to predict the shape and intensity of the earth's (magnetic) field with considerable accuracy out to distances of the order of several earth's radii."

The radius of the earth is 4,000 miles.

Wednesday's report said the three tests occurred Aug. 27 and 30 and in the early morning hours of Sept. 6.

British Arms Sales To Iraq Will Continue

LONDON (AP)—Britain is still willing to sell arms to Iraq despite Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's decision to pull his country out of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact.

A Foreign Office spokesman announced this Wednesday as diplomats studied signs that Kassem still wants good relations with the Western powers.

The British view seemed to be that Kassem finally went through the formality of withdrawing from the role of inactive partner in the alliance because of twin pressures from Iraqi Communist and Gamal Abdel Nasser's Arab nationalists.

Moscow has bitterly assailed the alliance since its formation in 1955. The Soviets called it an aggresive grouping that threatened Middle East peace. Nasser has attacked it as an imperialist device to split off Middle East states from his movement of Arab nationalism.

Now the Arab Communists and Arab nationalists are waging a word war, each accusing the other of trying to dominate Iraq where British and Western capital has a big stake in the oil fields.

Iraq's withdrawal from the pact means it no longer is entitled to military help from the other members—Britain, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan—in case it is attacked.

It was disclosed last week, however, that Britain was ready to resume arms sales to Iraq that were interrupted after Kassem's revolution last July overthrew the pro-Western monarchy and government.

British informants said Iraq authorities have given assurance that Britain will not be ejected immediately from its Habbaniyah air base west of Baghdad. About 600 Royal Air Force men and dependents are there. The British hope to negotiate an agreement keeping the base intact and giving them rights to fly over the oil fields.

Four-In-One Vaccine Approved For Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government will put its stamp of approval Thursday on a newly-developed four-in-one vaccine providing protection against polio, diptheria, whooping cough and teatanus, it was learned Wednesday night.

An official of the U.S. Public Health Service said the government has licensed two pharmaceutical firms to sell the vaccine.

Kennedy Labor Bill Approved By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee Wednesday approved 13-2 a Democratic-sponsored bill aimed at curbing hoodlums and gangsters who have infiltrated some labor unions.

The action, capping nearly two months of public hearings and closed sessions by the committee, left the bill substantially unchanged from the way it was introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

Differences over whether it is strong enough to deal with racketeering and abuses in unions presage a Senate floor fight expected to come in mid-April.

Kennedy described it as a strong and effective bill which "will make it unprofitable for hoodlums to infiltrate the union movement." Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), joined with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) in casting the negative votes, said it falls far short.

Goldwater and Dirksen plan to submit a minority report on the bill. Their report and the majority report are to be ready April 13. Kennedy said he expects floor consideration to start soon after that.

The major provisions of Kennedy's bill would:

1. Require unions to make detailed public reports on their finances, and management to disclose its expenditures to influence labor relations disputes.

2. Require unions to hold secret ballot elections, and limit terms of union officers.

3. Prohibit any person convicted of serious crime from serving as a union official for prescribed periods.

4. Limit the duration of international union trusteeships over a local to 18 months.

5. Ban picketings for extortion to secure a payoff from an employer.

Arctic H-Bomb Idea Suggested To Up Mercury

CHICAGO (AP)—One of the nation's top weather researchers suggested Wednesday that much of earth's temperature could be raised and the Arctic Ocean opened to shipping by exploding H-bombs under water in the north polar region.

Harry Wexler, in charge of research for the U.S. Weather Bureau, said the explosions would create a vast ice fog over the polar region to prevent heat from radiating away from the earth.

But such weather tinkering, he warned, might start a new ice age in northern sections of continents bordering on the arctic and reduce needed rainfall in such sections as Southern California and the Mediterranean.

House Votes Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and returned to the Senate Wednesday a bill authorizing an increase of $1,375,000,000 in the U.S. contribution to the International Monetary Fund.

Passage was by roll-call vote of 315-57.

The Senate already has passed a companion measure which would make the increase effective after next July 1, thereby charging it to the 1960 budget. The House measure would charge the money to the 1959 budget, which is already unbalanced.

Mother Admits Beating Two Children To Death

HIBERNIA, N.J. (UPI)—A 38-year-old mother admitted Wednesday that she bludgeoned to death her two babies and attempted to kill her two oldest children and herself "because I thought we were all insane."

Mrs. Ellen Church, described as a good mother and a quiet neighbor, disclosed her intentions while being questioned by psychiatrists about the bludgeoning of her daughter Katherine, 2, and her son, Kenneth, 7 months.

Pressed for a motive by psychiatrists at St. Clare's Hospital in nearby Denville, Mrs. Church was quoted by Morris County prosecutor Frank Scerbo as saying:

"I thought we were all insane".

Scerbo said he thought she attempted to kill the other two by administering pills. Mrs. Church swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills after the double slaying, apparently in a suicide attempt, Scerbo said.

Later, Mrs. Church was declared insane by two psychiatrists for the state and was ordered committed to Greystone Park Mental Hospital in Morristown, N.J.

The babies' blanket - wrapped bodies were found stuffed in wicker baskets in a front yard playhouse. The baskets were covered with newspapers.

An autopsy showed that they had been beaten with a blunt instrument. Mrs. Church told police that she used a toy tomahawk, a hammer and a piece of iron.

Ike Says Only Khrushchev Can Make Valid Russ Pact

Spikes Any Idea He's Committed To Summit Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Nikita Khrushchev in indirect but unmistakable terms Wednesday that the Soviet Premier can't order, bluff or blackmail him into attending a summit conference.

Khrushchev has been pushing for one.

But in shaking a figurative finger under the Soviet leader's nose, Eisenhower by no means backtracked on a decision of the Western Allies to try to arrange such a chiefs-of-government meeting this summer, after a session of foreign ministers.

He acknowledged to a news conference that only Khrushchev "has the authority really to negotiate" for the Kremlin. Anyone else, the President said, would be "on the telephone all the time with Moscow."

Eisenhower went along to a degree with the view of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that Khrushchev is the man with whom to try to do business on easing world tensions and solving the Berlin crisis.

"But I want to make this very clear. That this doesn't mean that anyone can command anybody else to come to a summit meeting. And you can't bluff them or blackmail them or anything else," he added.

Oppose Steel Price Hike

When the news conference got around now and then to other affairs, Eisenhower said that:

1. Steel companies and workers must agree on a contract in such a way as to avoid a price boost for steel.

2. He still thinks some congressional Democrats are reckless spenders.

3. He has no understanding with anyone that he will veto spending bills that might kill his hopes for a balanced budget.

This was the first news conference since Eisenhower's weekend discussions with Macmillan about a summit conference, Berlin, Germany and European security.

In contrast with Macmillan's idea that a summit session should be held under almost any conditions, Eisenhower said he has never changed his convictions on this point.

"I don't expect to change them, unless there is something cataclysmic or, let us say, unexpected, rather, that comes along, and that would bring some change," he said.

President's Position

The President's position has been that there first should be progress at an East-West foreign ministers' conference to point the route up the summit.

As for Macmillan's position that periodic summit conferences on informal basis would be helpful, Eisenhower said this was hard to visualize, as such discussions almost inevitably would take on a formal character. But he said he never would decline to go along if periodic negotiation offered

Cost Of Living Drops Slightly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government reported Wednesday the cost of living went down slightly last month with lower prices for eggs, pork and coffee leading the decline.

The Labor Department said its consumer price index stood at 123.7 in February, a decrease of one-tenth of one point from January. The index uses 1947-49 prices as a base of 100.

The new figure meant that goods and services that cost $10 in the base period cost $12.38 last month.

Despite the dip the February price level set a record for the month. However, the index was only 1 per cent higher than in February, 1958, making it the smallest 12-month advance in three years.

The decrease meant a pay cut for some workers. About 80,000 aircraft workers whose wages are tied to the index will lose one cent an hour.

It also affected purchasing power. The report said both the purchasing power and take-home pay of factory workers was at a February high last month. But buying power still was below both January and the all-time high set late 1956.

Tibetans Report Revolt Raging In Hinterlands

KALIMPONG, India (UPI)—Well-armed Chinese Communist troops have put down a two-week revolt in Tibet's mountain-top capital of Lhasa without stifling the uprising which has spread to other parts of the country, reports trickling across the frontier said Wednesday.

Tibetan leaders meeting here decided to send a 300-man delegation to New Delhi to request aid for their embattled countrymen seeking to cast off the Communist yoke. The Tibetans planned to protest India's decision not to intervene in behalf of the rebel tribesmen and Buddhist monks who joined them.

The Indian government agent at Gangtok, Sikkim, 34 miles from the Tibetan border, told a 26-member Tibetan delegation that fighting in Lhasa had ended.

Tibetan sources, reporting the spread of the uprising, said they believed the revolt was more extensive than last Friday, its previous peak.

In the fighting around Lhasa, two big Buddhist monasteries were reported heavily damaged by Chinese Communist fire. The Norbulingka summer palace of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's king, also was damaged extensively, but the Dalai Lama was reported safe at his 1,000-room Potala Palace in Lhasa.

(According to Chinese Nationalist intelligence reports reaching Taipei, Formosa, a Communist army of 50,000 well - equipped troops drove Tibetan insurgents out of Lhasa. The reports added that the Communists re-established radio communications between Lhasa and Communist China.

(Taipei reported that Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek met with his aides to discuss the possibility of extending aid to the Tibetan anti-Communists.)

Klan Leader Must Serve Prison Term

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that the Rev James W. Cole, Ku Klux Klan leader, must serve a prison term for inciting an Indian riot last year.

Cole, who since has resigned from the Klan, was sentenced to 18 months to two years in prison at his trial two months after Lumbee Indians broke up a Klan rally near Maxton with gunfire.

The Klan leader had appealed to the high court on grounds that his trial judge erred in admitting certain evidence.

Truck Explosion Showers Metal On Busy Street

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The exploding engine and transmission of a gasoline tank truck showered a busy downtown street intersection Wednesday with chunks of metal as heavy as 20 pounds.

Virgil Hines, 44, Granger, Ind., driver of the truck, suffered a right leg fracture, but the lunch-hour crowds on the sidewalks miraculously escaped injury.

Hines crawled out of the truck cab, fearing a fire in his cargo of 7,400 gallons of gasoline, but fire-fighting units quickly put out the fire smoldering in the engine.

The explosions, which broke a luggage shop show window and and chipped glass and brick up to second-story levels, weren't explained.

Divorcee's Fate Up To 12 Men

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A jury of 12 husbands was chosen Wednesday to decide whether divorcee Connie Nicholas murdered her wealthy lover of 15 years because he had turned to a younger woman.

The petite defendant, her hands and one arm crippled after a death struggle with handsome Forrest Teel on the night of July 31, had waited eight days in court for selection of the jury which will decide her fate.

When prosecution and defense attorneys suddenly agreed on the all-male jury panel, Mrs. Nicholas wept.

Bill Extending Idle Pay Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress sent to the White House Wednesday night a bill to continue for three months beyond April 1 special emergency payments to persons long out of work.

Shelved in the process was a Senate plan which would have extended such benefits to those who lose their jobs after April 1. They will, of course, still be eligible for regular unemployment compensation.

The Senate backed down from its 52-32 vote of a few hours earlier for a straight three-month extension of the law. That version would have permitted persons made jobless between April 1 and June 30 to get the temporary benefits.

Senate-House conferees promptly rejected the Senate plan and went back to the original House version calling for a three-month tapering-off bill.

The House and Senate adopted this compromise by voice vote and sent the bill to President Eisenhower, who is expected to sign it.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), heading the Senate conferees, said the House group was adamant in refusing to go along with the Senate bill.

Doctor Turned Antique Thief Glad He Got Caught

IOLA, Wis. (AP)—"Man, I wish I could tell you how glad I am that the sheriff finally caught me," the pleasant little country doctor said to the newsman. "And wouldn't it have been wonderful if somebody had seen me the first time?"

Dr. Ralph H. Wiley, 41-year-old family man and physician to this central Wisconsin community for 11 years, was talking. He had taken time out from the busy office hours he has resumed since he was released on $5,000 bail pending Circuit Court trial for larceny.

The doctor is charged with breaking into 11 abandoned farm houses and stealing dozens of antiques—dishes, tools and furniture left behind by dead or departed owners. He admits it freely, as he did when he was taken before a justice of the peace last week for arraignment.

But, he said, he never profited from any of the items, never used any. They were carefully stored, he said, in his attic and garage—some 50 items, all neatly appraised in a small ledger. He figured total value of the loot at about $2,000.

Behind all this," he said, "is the urge I have had to start a museum and stock it with the beautiful things I have come upon in this part of Wisconsin.

"I mean the things that the early settlers made for themselves—their chairs, their tables, their tools and all the rest. I have a passion for them, not to own, but to preserve."

Philadelphia, South Jersey Area Warned

Flounder, Fluke Contaminated; No Maryland Danger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Residents of Philadelphia and south Jersey were warned Wednesday not to eat any fresh flounder or fluke purchased since Monday because of poison which already had taken a little boy's life.

The Philadelphia health department said the fish would be destroyed.

Radio and television stations blared out the warning as residents sat down for their evening Lenten meal.

The warning came after Dale Kleinschmidt, 3, died after a fish dinner Tuesday night at his nearby Haddon Heights, N.J., home. His two brothers and his sister were hospitalized and his parents sickened.

Three women who had eaten flounder in a Philadelphia restaurant were hospitalized.

In Washington, John L. Harvey, deputy commissioner of the Food and Drug administration, said none of the contaminated fish had been sold outside the Philadelphia area.

Harvey said he did not know the exact quantity of fish involved except that "it was a very small amount."

Lawrence C. Standfill, regional director of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said tests of the remnants of the Kleinschmidt dinner revealed that the fish eaten had been contaminated by sodium nitrite. This is a poison which, in small quantities, is used to preserve meat, Standfill explained.

He added, however, that fish is not preserved in this fashion.

FDA investigators sought the source of the poisoned fish.

Danger In Maryland "Extremely Remote"

BALTIMORE (AP) — A state and a federal official said Wednesday night there was little chance that poisoned fish got into Maryland from the Philadelphia area.

The likelihood was "extremely remote" said Richard E.Williams, chief of the Baltimore district of the Federal Drug and Food Administration. Further word of assurance came from Dr. Robert M. Brown, chief of the bureau of environmental hygiene of the State Health Department.

Earlier, the Philadelphia Health Department warned that all flounder purchased in the area Tuesday and Wednesday should be destroyed. The alert came after a Haddon Heghts, N. J. boy died of food poisoning and his two brothers and a sister were hospitalized.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Health Department said flounder sold in the area had been sprinkled with a fatal poison at the distribution center.

Dr. Brown said he understood little fish is shipped into Maryland — at least as far as Baltimore — from the Philadelphia area.

A widespread alert was sent out, including bulletins over state police nets in several nearby states. They warned that recently purchased fish should be destroyed.

Oregon Police Seek Gunman

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A dangerous gunman was sought in the streets of downtown Portland Wednesday after a motorist reported he was forced at gunpoint to drive a man from the Williamette Valley into the city.

Police said the description matched that of a gunman who abducted one small town police chief and wounded another in the Williamette Valley Tuesday.

The man forced the motorist to let him out within a block of the Portland police headquarters.

The motorist, Allie Derrick, said he ate lunch at Amity, 40 miles south of Portland, and discovered the gunman in the rear seat after starting to drive on. After letting the man out here, Derrick hurried to the police station and gave the alarm.

Amity is about 50 miles north of the area where a gunman tangled with police Tuesday.

The gunman escaped Wednesday through police lines around the Brownsville area, 80 miles south of Portland.

Cost Of Living Drops Slightly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government reported Wednesday the cost of living went down slightly last month with lower prices for eggs, pork and coffee leading the decline.

The Labor Department said its consumer price index stood at 123.7 in February, a decrease of one-tenth of one point from January. The index uses 1947-49 prices as a base of 100.

The new figure meant that goods and services that cost $10 in the base period cost $12.38 last month.

Despite the dip the February price level set a record for the month. However, the index was only 1 per cent higher than in February, 1958, making it the smallest 12-month advance in three years.

The decrease meant a pay cut for some workers. About 80,000 aircraft workers whose wages are tied to the index will lose one cent an hour.

It also affected purchasing power. The report said both the purchasing power and take-home pay of factory workers was at a February high last month. But buying power still was below both January and the all-time high set late 1956.

Tibetans Report Revolt Raging In Hinterlands

KALIMPONG, India (UPI)—Well-armed Chinese Communist troops have put down a two-week revolt in Tibet's mountain-top capital of Lhasa without stifling the uprising which has spread to other parts of the country, reports trickling across the frontier said Wednesday.

Tibetan leaders meeting here decided to send a 300-man delegation to New Delhi to request aid for their embattled countrymen seeking to cast off the Communist yoke. The Tibetans planned to protest India's decision not to intervene in behalf of the rebel tribesmen and Buddhist monks who joined them.

The Indian government agent at Gangtok, Sikkim, 34 miles from the Tibetan border, told a 26-member Tibetan delegation that fighting in Lhasa had ended.

Tibetan sources, reporting the spread of the uprising, said they believed the revolt was more extensive than last Friday, its previous peak.

In the fighting around Lhasa, two big Buddhist monasteries were reported heavily damaged by Chinese Communist fire. The Norbulingka summer palace of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's king, also was damaged extensively, but the Dalai Lama was reported safe at his 1,000-room Potala Palace in Lhasa.

(According to Chinese Nationalist intelligence reports reaching Taipei, Formosa, a Communist army of 50,000 well - equipped troops drove Tibetan insurgents out of Lhasa. The reports added that the Communists re-established radio communications between Lhasa and Communist China.

(Taipei reported that Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek met with his aides to discuss the possibility of extending aid to the Tibetan anti-Communists.)

Klan Leader Must Serve Prison Term

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that the Rev. James W. Cole, Ku Klux Klan leader, must serve a prison term for inciting an Indian riot last year.

Cole, who since has resigned from the Klan, was sentenced to 18 months to two years in prison at his trial two months after Lumbee Indians broke up a Klan rally near Maxton with gunfire.

The Klan leader had appealed to the high court on grounds that his trial judge erred in admitting certain evidence.

Truck Explosion Showers Metal On Busy Street

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The exploding engine and transmission of a gasoline tank truck showered a busy downtown street intersection Wednesday with chunks of metal as heavy as 20 pounds.

Virgil Hines, 44, Granger, Ind., driver of the truck, suffered a right leg fracture, but the lunch-hour crowds on the sidewalks miraculously escaped injury.

Hines crawled out of the truck cab, fearing a fire in his cargo of 7,400 gallons of gasoline, but fire-fighting units quickly put out the fire smoldering in the engine.

The explosions, which broke a luggage shop show window and and chipped glass and brick up to second-story levels, weren't explained.

Divorcee's Fate Up To 12 Men

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A jury of 12 husbands was chosen Wednesday to decide whether divorcee Connie Nicholas murdered her wealthy lover of 15 years because he had turned to a younger woman.

The petite defendant, her hands and one arm crippled after a death struggle with handsome Forrest Teel on the night of July 31, had waited eight days in court for selection of the jury which will decide her fate.

When prosecution and defense attorneys suddenly agreed on the all-male jury panel, Mrs. Nicholas wept.

Bill Extending Idle Pay Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress sent to the White House Wednesday night a bill to continue for three months beyond April 1 special emergency payments to persons long out of work.

Shelved in the process was a Senate plan which would have extended such benefits to those who lose their jobs after April 1. They will, of course, still be eligible for regular unemployment compensation.

The Senate backed down from its 52-32 vote of a few hours earlier for a straight three-month extension of the law. That version would have permitted persons made jobless between April 1 and June 30 to get the temporary benefits.

Senate-House conferees promptly rejected the Senate plan and went back to the original House version calling for a three-month tapering-off bill.

The House and Senate adopted this compromise by voice vote and sent the bill to President Eisenhower, who is expected to sign it.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), heading the Senate conferees, said the House group was adamant in refusing to go along with the Senate bill.

Doctor Turned Antique Thief Glad He Got Caught

IOLA, Wis. (AP)—"Man, I wish I could tell you how glad I am that the sheriff finally caught me," the pleasant little country doctor said to the newsman. "And wouldn't it have been wonderful if somebody had seen me the first time?"

Dr. Ralph H. Wiley, 41-year-old family man and physician to this central Wisconsin community for 11 years, was talking. He had taken time out from the busy office hours he has resumed since he was released on $5,000 bail pending Circuit Court trial for larceny.

The doctor is charged with breaking into 11 abandoned farm houses and stealing dozens of antiques—dishes, tools and furniture left behind by dead or departed owners. He admits it freely, as he did when he was taken before a justice of the peace last week for arraignment.

But, he said, he never profited from any of the items, never used any. They were carefully stored, he said, in his attic and garage—some 50 items, all neatly appraised in a small ledger. He figured total value of the loot at about $2,000.

Behind all this," he said, "is the urge I have had to start a museum and stock it with the beautiful things I have come upon in this part of Wisconsin.

"I mean the things that the early settlers made for themselves—their chairs, their tables, their tools and all the rest. I have a passion for them, not to own, but to preserve."

Philadelphia, South Jersey Area Warned

Flounder, Fluke Contaminated; No Maryland Danger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Residents of Philadelphia and south Jersey were warned Wednesday not to eat any fresh flounder or fluke purchased since Monday because of poison which already had taken a little boy's life.

The Philadelphia health department said the fish would be destroyed.

Radio and television stations blared out the warning as residents sat down for their evening Lenten meal.

The warning came after Dale Kleinschmidt, 3, died after a fish dinner Tuesday night at his nearby Haddon Heights, N.J., home. His two brothers and his sister were hospitalized and his parents sickened.

Three women who had eaten flounder in a Philadelphia restaurant were hospitalized.

In Washington, John L. Harvey, deputy commissioner of the Food and Drug administration, said none of the contaminated fish had been sold outside the Philadelphia area.

Harvey said he did not know the exact quantity of fish involved except that "it was a very small amount."

Lawrence C. Standfill, regional director of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said tests of the remnants of the Kleinschmidt dinner revealed that the fish eaten had been contaminated by sodium nitrite. This is a poison which, in small quantities, is used to preserve meat, Standfill explained.

He added, however, that fish is not preserved in this fashion.

FDA investigators sought the source of the poisoned fish.

Danger In Maryland "Extremely Remote"

BALTIMORE (AP) — A state and a federal official said Wednesday night there was little chance that poisoned fish got into Maryland from the Philadelphia area.

The likelihood was "extremely remote" said Richard E.Williams, chief of the Baltimore district of the Federal Drug and Food Administration. Further word of assurance came from Dr. Robert M. Brown, chief of the bureau of environmental hygiene of the State Health Department.

Earlier, the Philadelphia Health Department warned that all flounder purchased in the area Tuesday and Wednesday should be destroyed. The alert came after a Haddon Heghts, N. J. boy died of food poisoning and his two brothers and a sister were hospitalized.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Health Department said flounder sold in the area had been sprinkled with a fatal poison at the distribution center.

Dr. Brown said he understood little fish is shipped into Maryland — at least as far as Baltimore — from the Philadelphia area.

A widespread alert was sent out, including bulletins over state police nets in several nearby states. They warned that recently purchased fish should be destroyed.

Oregon Police Seek Gunman

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A dangerous gunman was sought in the streets of downtown Portland Wednesday after a motorist reported he was forced at gunpoint to drive a man from the Williamette Valley into the city.

Police said the description matched that of a gunman who abducted one small town police chief and wounded another in the Williamette Valley Tuesday.

The man forced the motorist to let him out within a block of the Portland police headquarters.

The motorist, Allie Derrick, said he ate lunch at Amity, 40 miles south of Portland, and discovered the gunman in the rear seat after starting to drive on. After letting the man out here, Derrick hurried to the police station and gave the alarm.

Amity is about 50 miles north of the area where a gunman tangled with police Tuesday.

The gunman escaped Wednesday through police lines around the Brownsville area, 80 miles south of Portland.

Black-Eyed Susan Beall Entry In U.S. Flower Race

Maryland Marks Its 325th Anniversary

By The Associated Press

Some Marylanders paused Wednesday to mark the 325th anniversary of the founding of the Free State.

Gov. Tawes traced the history of civil liberties and religion in Maryland at a Baltimore noontime ceremony.

Sen. Beall (R-Md) offered to share Maryland's esteem for the black-eyed susan with the other 49 states in a Senate resolution. He'd like to make it the national flower.

State and city courts in Baltimore were closed but federal courts remained open. Most city and State departments were closed.

However, for most persons it was just another work day.

Schools, banks, post offices remained open. The Maryland Legislature, facing a backlog of bills as the session nears its end, worked overtime, meeting both in the afternoon and evening.

The Maryland Day ceremony in Baltimore was climaxed when the governor and Mrs. F. Lloyd Wolff, president of the Maryland Colonial Society, placed a wreath at the statue of Lord Calvert outside the courthouse.

Sen. Beall added the black-eyed susan, the Maryland state flower, to the growing list of nominees for a national flower.

Taking a few pokes at other nominees in a Maryland Day Senate resolution, the senator said:

"We have heard proposed here the subsidized corn tassel, the lowly grass, the poor, overworked rose, the tough, repelling marigold. But we need look no further. Here I give you the black-eyed susan, an appropriate and worthy national flower for these United States."

One out-of-state motorist ran into a little trouble in Baltimore over Maryland Day.

Knowing it was a holiday, he parked his car in downtown Baltimore and purposely didn't put any money in the meter.

The meters opened at 8 a.m. He had a ticket at 8:51.

Finding a patrolman on the block, the motorist politely pointed out that it was a holiday and he shouldn't be required to feed the meter.

Racial Tension Union Weapon, Probe Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Teamsters Union official proposed a phony home purchase by a Negro in segregation-minded Miami as a tactic to win a "no holds barred war" with a concrete firm, Senate investigators charged Wednesday.

The Senate Labor-Management Committee said Dave Frechette, a leader of Miami Teamsters Local 290, suggested to Union President James R. Hoffa that "segregationist feeling here concerning the Negroes" be used as a weapon against the Acme Concrete Co.

The idea apparently would be to strike at the concrete firm through builders using its products.

The committee produced a letter in which it said Frechette made the proposal March 18 a year ago.

Frechette, secretary and business representative of the local, refused to answer any questions about it, invoking the Fifth Amendment.

Committee investigator Walter Sheridan testified that within two months after Frechette sent his letter to Hoffa; the Miami local received $15,000 from the International Union.

As introduced by the committee, Frechette's letter proposed that Hoffa put up teamster union money to buy a home in the name of a Negro who would not get title to it.

The letter sketched the idea this way:

"If the sales agent refuses to sell him (the Negro) a house or hedges around about it, a formal complaint is immediately registered with the FHA and the Veterans Administration, who as you know, whenever any federal money or guarantees are involved, can brook no discrimination.

"This usually ends it (the dispute), as the builder get shook up about having his mortgage financing fouled up."

The Frechette letter was brought up as an offshoot of the committee's probe of allegations that hoodlums used labor unions for getting a grip on the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry in the Miami area.

Among other things, Frechette refused to say why a nonunion operator identified as Sam Marino has Teamster labels on vending machines in Teamster headquarters at Miami.

Tawes Studies Complaint Against Hepbron

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes and his staff started studying Wednesday whether a formal complaint warrants his consideration of removing James M. Hepbron as Baltimore police commissioner.

The complaint was sent to the governor by the Baltimore City delegates in the House.

Gov. Tawes, who has the sole power to remove Hepbron before his term expires in 1961, promised to study it carefully before deciding whether to give the commissioner a hearing.

A hearing is required before the governor may "remove for incompetency or misconduct" any appointee.

Original claims that Hepbron had committed "errors of judgment" were made by Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th). The city delegates held their own hearing without Hepbron on the charges.

It produced "serious additional accusations and allegations of misconduct and incompetency against the commissioner," formal complaint to the governor stated.

In 1957, American men spent some 39 million dollars for after shave lotions. This was about eight million dollars more than U. S. women spent on perfume.

Ike's Revenue Forecast Seen Billion Too High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional tax experts Wednesday estimated federal revenues for the government's 1960 fiscal year will be more than a billion dollars under President Eisenhower's budget predictions.

The President's hopes for a balanced budget in 1960 are based on expectations that federal receipts will reach $77,100,000,000.

Staff experts of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation made an estimate of $75,800,000,000 in their annual report Wednesday to Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark).

For the current 1959 fiscal year ending June 30, the staff report estimated receipts at $66,900,000,000 as compared with January budget estimates of 68 billion dollars.

If the staff estimate is accurate, this year's budget deficit, now estimated to be in excess of 12 billion dollars, will wind up more than a billion dollars higher.

Estimates of lower-than-expected revenues would support those economists who contend the business recovery from the 1957-58 recession has not been as fast or as extensive as hoped for.

The sheriff said Herron told him that he went to the teacher's home Tuesday, donned a mask and knocked on the back door. When the teacher's wife opened the door, Herron forced his way inside, and raped her, Nix quoted the boy as saying.

Desperado Hunted In Alexandria Area

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) — FBI agents and Alexandria police combed this Washington suburb Wednesday for one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men and a man who disappeared after eating lunch with him Sunday.

Frank Lawrence Sprenz, 29, is wanted for the robbery of a Hamilton, Ohio bank March 2, 1958, and for stealing an airplane to flee. He was reported seen in the Alexandria area Sunday.

Coupled with the search for Sprenz was the disappearance Sunday of James Shorden, 31, who told his wife he had eaten lunch with a man answering the description of one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men.

some hope of beneficial effects for this country and the free world.

No serious consideration, Eisenhower said, has been given to holding the prospective summit session this summer in the United States.

Eisenhower said he doesn't know yet what role Secretary of State Dulles will play in forthcoming negotiations with the Soviets. The doctors, he said, can't yet be sure about Dulles' condition.

The secretary, Eisenhower said, is going to Florida Monday for recreation and convalescence from his cancer.

Eisenhower hinted that if Dulles should have to step down from the Cabinet, he would find another spot for him, perhaps as a consultant on foreign policy. As long as Dulles feels physically able to work, the President said, "I will never let him go in some capacity."

For the current 1959 fiscal year ending June 30, the staff report estimated receipts at $66,900,000,000 as compared with January budget estimates of 68 billion dollars.

If the staff estimate is accurate, this year's budget deficit, now estimated to be in excess of 12 billion dollars, will wind up more than a billion dollars higher.

Estimates of lower-than-expected revenues would support those economists who contend the business recovery from the 1957-58 recession has not been as fast or as extensive as hoped for.

JASPER, Ala. (AP) — A ninth grade pupil was charged Wednesday with raping his teacher's wife for revenge.

James Herron, 16, told Sheriff Brunner Nix that he attacked the woman because his teacher had been "picking" on him.

No serious consideration, Eisenhower said, has been given to holding the prospective summit session this summer in the United States.

Eisenhower said he doesn't know yet what role Secretary of State Dulles will play in forthcoming negotiations with the Soviets. The doctors, he said, can't yet be sure about Dulles' condition.

The secretary, Eisenhower said, is going to Florida Monday for recreation and convalescence from his cancer.

Eisenhower hinted that if Dulles should have to step down from the Cabinet, he would find another spot for him, perhaps as a consultant on foreign policy. As long as Dulles feels physically able to work, the President said, "I will never let him go in some capacity."

Maryland Classified Employes Present Case For Pay Boost

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A spokesman for Maryland's classified employes suggested Wednesday that the Legislature give them a 7 per cent pay increase with money already earmarked for boosting teachers' salaries.

J. Robert Brown, an employment security department worker from Baltimore, made the proposal at a joint hearing of the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees.

"I think all Maryland state employes feel that teachers are entitled to a raise," he said in noting that Gov. Tawes has recommended a new round of teacher salary increases in his supplemental budget.

"But we do not feel that they are entitled to a second increase before we get one," he declared. This statement, coming in response to a question from a committee member, touched off the loudest outburst of applause at the one-hour hearing.

About 300 employes, ranging from prim typists to ruddy-faced roads commission workers, had crowded into the House chamber and galleries to hear their case presented.

They were among 18,000 state employes who would be covered by a bill to raise their salary scales by 7 per cent and give them four per cent longevity increases every three years after serving their fifth year. They would retain the four per cent annual experience increases now allowed for their first five years of service.

The bill, sponsored by Del. Rombro (D-Balto 4th) and 10 others, would finance this with the state's share of taxes from betting on the ninth daily race recently authorized for major Maryland thoroughbred tracks.

During most of the hearing, the spectators and committee members listened solemnly as Brown and 10 other spokesmen for the Maryland Classified Employes Assn. offered these arguments:

1. Gov. Tawes had promised the employes and 23,000 teachers he would try "to work out an equitable plan for both groups," said Worthington Pearre, executive director of the MCEA, but had provided salary increases for only the teachers in his supplemental budget.

2. Several studies of state employe salaries have been made but the only recent action to keep them in line with the increased cost of living was 1958 legislative action which gave virtually no raises to more than half of these employes and left the others still more than 7 per cent worse off in buying power.

3. State workers have been so dissatisfied with their lot that more than 20 per cent of them left the service last year, compared with a 3.3 per cent turnover in private Maryland industry.

4. Any further study or survey, said Edward H. Johns, lobbyist for the MCEA, "would only be another delaying tactic and would be destructive to . . . morale" of these workers.

5. From 1939 to 1958 the consumer price index rose 109.7 per cent. The federal government granted its employes 88.8 per cent in salary increases during this period, compared with Maryland's 44 per cent.

6. The state gave teachers an average $400-a-year raise last year and if — as expected — the Legislature goes along with Gov. Tawes' new increase proposal, will give them increases of $800-$1,000 in minimum salary scales this year.

PEACEFUL END — Actress Diane Varsi and her son, Shawn, 2, look over the town of Bennington, Vt., where they plan to begin a new life. "I have given up all ideas of acting," said the 21-year-old star, who left Hollywood, Calif., because its pace was too demanding.

Fire Destroys Sparkler Plant

NORTHEAST, Md. (AP) — An explosion and fire destroyed the plant of the Elkton Sparkler Co. near this Cecil County town today.

State Police said there were no injuries, although the blast completely leveled the plant and ruined nine cars parked on a nearby parking lot.

Company officials estimated the damage at about $100,000. The plant manufactured sparkler fireworks.

Cause of the explosion was not known immediately.

The plant is located on Maryland 272 about five miles from Elkton. It employed some 75 persons.

Firemen responded to the alarms from Northeast, Perryville, Charles Town, and Elkton, but were unable to save any portion of the plant.

Md. Legislators Back Compact Changes

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland legislators Wednesday moved to make some major changes in a proposed Virginia-Maryland compact which already has been approved by the Old Dominion state.

The judiciary committees of both houses accepted the recommendations of a joint subcommittee to write strong curbs into the new agreement through eight amendments.

The new compact would replace one written in 1785 and would create a bi-state agency to regulate Potomac River fisheries.

In the Senate, where the bill is expected to move first, the amendments were read, but action on them was held up for one day to give members a chance to study them.

The amendments, some of which may meet heavy opposition in Virginia, include the following provisions:

1. Governors of either state could veto any regulation adopted by the bi-state agency, but they would have to act before the regulation goes into effect.

2. The new agency could not authorize leasing, dredging or patent tonging of oysters without permission from both legislatures.

3. Each state would contribute $50,000 a year to the new commission, but none of this may be used for law enforcement. The original bill asks only $25,000 from each and does not restrict use of the money.

The amendments, designed to overcome stout Maryland objections to the original proposal, could complicate the status of the compact if accepted.

Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester), chairman of the Judicial Proceedings Committee, was asked where Maryland would be if it amended the compact and Virginia refused to concur in the changes.

"We feel we should prepare the best compact possible for Maryland," Malkus said. "If Virginia doesn't accept, we won't be any worse off than we are now."

Maryland attempted to abrogate the old compact in 1957. Virginia protested and took the issue to the Supreme Court where the two states were ordered to try to reach an out-of-court agreement.

In the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday, Del. Walsh (D-Allegany) said the subcommittee was in unanimous agreement that Maryland would lose the Supreme Court case and be back under the old compact if a new one is not accepted.

"This is a better working arrangement for oyster management in the river (than the old compact)," Walsh said.

Opposition to the gubernatorial veto amendment has already been expressed by one Virginia legislator. Sen. Mills E. Godwin Jr. of Suffolk, head of the Virginia group which helped draft the compact, said it is "almost completely out of the question" to give such veto power.

He said it would defeat the purpose of the bi-state commission and "hamstring" the agency.

Other amendments offered would spell out that law enforcement in the river is to be a "joint effort" and that either governor or legislature may call for further study and recommendations on revising the compact.

Steel Mills Expect Big Second Quarter

NEW YOR K(UPI)—Steel mills look for a "fast and furious" second quarter, Iron Age said Wednesday.

The authoritative trade magazine said second quarter production and shipments probably will set an all-time record as mills and customers try to get set for a possible steel strike at midyear.

At the moment incoming orders have leveled off at some mills, but the magazine said this is because there is no point in taking any more orders for shipment before June 30—the steel contract deadline.

Four Jail Breakers Face Kidnap Charges

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (UPI)—Kidnap charges were filed Wednesday against four jail escapees captured in a gunbattle with Geauga County sheriff's deputies. Nobody was wounded.

Robert P. Herman, 36; Joseph Orville, 23; Donald Sweet, 24, and Mrs. Lola Gordon, 40, all of Youngstown, were captured 40 hours after they overpowered two guards at the jail. They fled in a guard's car with one guard as a hostage, but he later was let out unharmed.

The intoxicated quartet was captured after a 90-mile an hour chase down Ohio 306 Tuesday night. Deputies fired nine shots and the fugitives 11 before they stopped the car and emerged with their hands up.

The United States produced more than 500 million pounds of frozen foods in 1958.

Ex-Navy Petty Officer Gets 5 Years For Theft

BALTIMORE (AP)— A former Navy petty officer, who went on a southern spending spree with stolen government money, was sentenced Wednesday to five years in a federal prison.

Benjamin F. Long, Jr., 47, of Cheverly, Md., pleaded guilty to taking $10,737 from the commissary at Patuxent, Md., Naval Station. Long was the store's head cashier. The money was taken December 10, 1957.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Arnold M. Weiner told Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that Long, father of two children, traveled to Charlotte, N.C., and Miami, Fla., with a woman.

Weiner said the woman told investigators later that Long was a "free spender and good tipper". Long gave himself up the following January and $4,000 of the money was recovered.

Judge Thomsen rejected a suggestion the theft was a result of Long's mental condition. He did say Long would be eligible for parole in six months if it is then decided he needs treatment.

Lawyer Crippled By Multiple Sclerosis Admitted To Practice Before Top Court

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ordinarily watching lawyers while they are being admitted to practice before the Supreme Court can't be classed as one of Washington's most thrilling moments.

But this was different.

One of the candidates for admission was Raymond Del Tufo Jr. of Newark, N.J.

In October 1957, Del Tufo was winding up a year and a half in the hospital. He had been a United States attorney, but his career, and his life, seemed to be hopelessly ruined by multiple sclerosis.

Now, at 39, he was before the high court—in a wheel chair, it's true, but still there, and smiling cheerfully.

Between 200,000 and 300,000 persons in this country have multiple sclerosis, a crippling disease for which there is no known cause, cure or treatment.

Del Tufo's story is typical in some ways.

It struck early, right after he got out of the Army. (Multiple sclerosis rarely hits before the age of 18 or after 45).

But the early blow was comparatively light. Del Tufo was able to finish school, and embark on what looked like a promising legal career.

Then, as it so often does, the disease got progressively worse. It crippled both legs and his left arm.

Among those who encouraged Del Tufo to carry on his work was Earl W. Kintner, general counsel for the Trade Commission and president of the Federal Bar Assn.

Now Del Tufo is carrying a full load as teacher of constitutional law at Seton Hall, doing some private practice in his spare time, and making big plans for his marriage next month.

It was Kintner who arranged for Del Tufo's appearance here. And he was discussing the comeback as friends prepared to wheel Del Tufo into the impressive courtroom.

"Real courage," Kintner said. And Kintner should know. For he went through an atatck of tuberculosis and assorted miseries, and yet returned to a full 60-hour work week.

So it was nice to see one not-too-handicapped lawyer sponsoring another.

One final question: as a constitutional lawyer, would Del Tufo like to try a case sometime before this court?

"Love to," he said.

Lemay Says 1,000 U.S. Bombers In Readiness

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said Tuesday night the United States was prepared to put more than 1,000 nuclear armed jet bombers on 15-minute alert in any "crisis in the days ahead."

He made the obvious reference to the Berlin crisis in a speech taking "prophets of doom" to task. He said the United States could "destroy completely" any nation which attacks this or other free nations.

Lemay, Air Force vice chief of staff, said an "over-whelming barrage of not altogether factual information" had spread uncertainty about the ability of the armed forces to do their job. In reply, he told the "Committee off 100" a business and professional group here, that the Strategic Air Command had "well over 1,000 modern jet bombers with crews and nuclear weapons available and ready for takeoff" during the Lebanon crisis last summer.

That was several hundred more bombers than usually are kept on runways ready to take off in 15 minutes.

"Quietly posed in the background," Lemay said, "the bombers enabled ground, naval, marine and tactical air forces to move openly into the troubled area, in the Middle East."

He said U.S. power "extended much deeper than those relatively few forces which were in evidence in the Middle East—and the Communists knew it."

Huge Navy Helicopter Big Success

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—The world's largest amphibious helicopter—the Navy's turbine powered Sikorsky HSS2—made a dazzling flight debut Tuesday.

The flight was an important one because the HSS2 is the first Navy helicopter capable of operating in all kinds of weather, day and night.

Vice Admiral Robert B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said the craft, when it joins the fleet early in 1961, will be an extremely potent antipsubmarine weapon.

"It can carry both conventional and atomic depth charges, and can detect and isolate submarines and at the same time launch a kill weapon—a very great advantage," Pirie said.

The big twin-engine, single rotor craft, almost the size of a bus, accomplished all the maneuvers of conventional helicopters—only faster and better—and invented a few new tactics of its own.

Robert Decker, 42, Sikorsky Aircraft assistant chief test pilot, and Francis (Yip) Yirrell, 34, copilot, landed and took off from the Housatonic River near the Sikorsky plant as well as from land, flew past 400 observers at 120 m.p.h. with one engine out, climbed on the same single-engine at 1,500 feet a minute.

They also demonstrated they could land with no power at all. Turning the engines off, they deposited the helicopter gently on the water, their descent slowed only by the automatic turning of the big rotor blades.

They also flew the machine sideways, backwards, and in vertical circles like a Ferris wheel.

To Move Body

MADRID (UPI) — The body of Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, founder of the rightist Falange Party of Spain, will be moved to the "Valley of the Fallen" March 30, the day before the inauguration of the giant memorial to Spain's Civil War dead.

Lawyer Crippled By Multiple Sclerosis Admitted To Practice Before Top Court

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ordinarily watching lawyers while they are being admitted to practice before the Supreme Court can't be classed as one of Washington's most thrilling moments.

But this was different.

One of the candidates for admission was Raymond Del Tufo Jr. of Newark, N.J.

In October 1957, Del Tufo was winding up a year and a half in the hospital. He had been a United States attorney, but his career, and his life, seemed to be hopelessly ruined by multiple sclerosis.

Now, at 39, he was before the high court—in a wheel chair, it's true, but still there, and smiling cheerfully.

Between 200,000 and 300,000 persons in this country have multiple sclerosis, a crippling disease for which there is no known cause, cure or treatment.

Del Tufo's story is typical in some ways.

It struck early, right after he got out of the Army. (Multiple sclerosis rarely hits before the age of 18 or after 45).

But the early blow was comparatively light. Del Tufo was able to finish school, and embark on what looked like a promising legal career.

Then, as it so often does, the disease got progressively worse. It crippled both legs and his left arm.

Among those who encouraged Del Tufo to carry on his work was Earl W. Kintner, general counsel for the Trade Commission and president of the Federal Bar Assn.

Now Del Tufo is carrying a full load as teacher of constitutional law at Seton Hall, doing some private practice in his spare time, and making big plans for his marriage next month.

It was Kintner who arranged for Del Tufo's appearance here. And he was discussing the comeback as friends prepared to wheel Del Tufo into the impressive courtroom.

"Real courage," Kintner said. And Kintner should know. For he went through an atatck of tuberculosis and assorted miseries, and yet returned to a full 60-hour work week.

So it was nice to see one not-too-handicapped lawyer sponsoring another.

One final question: as a constitutional lawyer, would Del Tufo like to try a case sometime before this court?

"Love to," he said.

Lemay Says 1,000 U.S. Bombers In Readiness

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said Tuesday night the United States was prepared to put more than 1,000 nuclear armed jet bombers on 15-minute alert in any "crisis in the days ahead."

He made the obvious reference to the Berlin crisis in a speech taking "prophets of doom" to task. He said the United States could "destroy completely" any nation which attacks this or other free nations.

Lemay, Air Force vice chief of staff, said an "over-whelming barrage of not altogether factual information" had spread uncertainty about the ability of the armed forces to do their job. In reply, he told the "Committee off 100" a business and professional group here, that the Strategic Air Command had "well over 1,000 modern jet bombers with crews and nuclear weapons available and ready for takeoff" during the Lebanon crisis last summer.

That was several hundred more bombers than usually are kept on runways ready to take off in 15 minutes.

"Quietly posed in the background," Lemay said, "the bombers enabled ground, naval, marine and tactical air forces to move openly into the troubled area, in the Middle East."

He said U.S. power "extended much deeper than those relatively few forces which were in evidence in the Middle East—and the Communists knew it."

Huge Navy Helicopter Big Success

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—The world's largest amphibious helicopter—the Navy's turbine powered Sikorsky HSS2—made a dazzling flight debut Tuesday.

The flight was an important one because the HSS2 is the first Navy helicopter capable of operating in all kinds of weather, day and night.

Vice Admiral Robert B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said the craft, when it joins the fleet early in 1961, will be an extremely potent antipsubmarine weapon.

"It can carry both conventional and atomic depth charges, and can detect and isolate submarines and at the same time launch a kill weapon—a very great advantage," Pirie said.

The big twin-engine, single rotor craft, almost the size of a bus, accomplished all the maneuvers of conventional helicopters—only faster and better—and invented a few new tactics of its own.

Robert Decker, 42, Sikorsky Aircraft assistant chief test pilot, and Francis (Yip) Yirrell, 34, copilot, landed and took off from the Housatonic River near the Sikorsky plant as well as from land, flew past 400 observers at 120 m.p.h. with one engine out, climbed on the same single-engine at 1,500 feet a minute.

They also demonstrated they could land with no power at all. Turning the engines off, they deposited the helicopter gently on the water, their descent slowed only by the automatic turning of the big rotor blades.

They also flew the machine sideways, backwards, and in vertical circles like a Ferris wheel.

To Move Body

MADRID (UPI) — The body of Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, founder of the rightist Falange Party of Spain, will be moved to the "Valley of the Fallen" March 30, the day before the inauguration of the giant memorial to Spain's Civil War dead.

Market Closes Irregular After Late Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Last minute realizing in some of the day's early strong spots brought irregularity into the stock market.

While htere were individual wide moves in either direction most of the list held to a pattern of narrow irregularity and activity continued moderate in comparison with recent 4,000,000 or better days.

Turnover of 3,280,000 shares compared with 3,000,000 on Tuesday.

Chemical shares attracted considerable attention, with Du Pont rising nearly 5 points and American Agricultural up over y, the latter responding to a stock split announcement. Thiokol Chemical, good early in the day, backed down to close with a loss of more than 3 points.

Zenith, also an early strong spot, finished 3 lower. Elsewhere in the electronics, however, Siegler and Hoffman rose around 2 points and International Business Machines gained 5 to 530.

American Motors rose nearly 2 points while Chrysler and Ford lost nealy a point each in their group. Steels closed with losses predominating. U. S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National Steel and Lukens fell around a point each.

Celanese ran up over 2 points as the company announced it is considering entering the high energy fuel field. Other good gainers included Philadelphia & Reading, Parmelee Transportation, Minute Maid Bayuk Cigar (on indications a proxy battle is in the offing), Maytag, Bell & Howell and Johnson & Johnson.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—In active trade, grains drove to a firm to strong closing Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat was up 1 to 2¼; corn up ¼ to ⅝; oats up ⅝ to 1; new oats up ⅝ to ⅞; rye up ½ to 1½; soybeans off ⅛ to up ½.

Buying power in May wheat surged the contract ahead by 2¼ cents and brokers with Southwest connections, who also bought July and September, helped the deliveries move up a full cent and better. Other strengthening factors included increased mill buying and export covering.

There was good demand for May corn, enough to advance it ¾ cent. Exporters were the main buyers. And with cash interests also on the buying side, July moved ⅜ to ½ cent higher, September ¼ and December ⅜. But, as in wheat, the spot market fell slightly.

In oats, a scattered but consistent demand for old July led to a full cent advance.

Advances in rye were mainly in the May.

Processors were active in soybeans and moved September and January contracts higher by ½ cent. Strong meal prices also influenced trade.

In export business reported, Finland took about 186,500 bushels of spring wheat for April shipment. Norway was said to have postponed its scheduled purchases of 6,000 tons of corn and 6,000 milo. The United Kingdom did take 7,500 tons milo.

Grains at outside markets were mostly firm. The range:

Market Closes Irregular After Late Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Last minute realizing in some of the day's early strong spots brought irregularity into the stock market.

While htere were individual wide moves in either direction most of the list held to a pattern of narrow irregularity and activity continued moderate in comparison with recent 4,000,000 or better days.

Turnover of 3,280,000 shares compared with 3,000,000 on Tuesday.

Chemical shares attracted considerable attention, with Du Pont rising nearly 5 points and American Agricultural up over y, the latter responding to a stock split announcement. Thiokol Chemical, good early in the day, backed down to close with a loss of more than 3 points.

Zenith, also an early strong spot, finished 3 lower. Elsewhere in the electronics, however, Siegler and Hoffman rose around 2 points and International Business Machines gained 5 to 530.

American Motors rose nearly 2 points while Chrysler and Ford lost nealy a point each in their group. Steels closed with losses predominating. U. S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National Steel and Lukens fell around a point each.

Celanese ran up over 2 points as the company announced it is considering entering the high energy fuel field. Other good gainers included Philadelphia & Reading, Parmelee Transportation, Minute Maid Bayuk Cigar (on indications a proxy battle is in the offing), Maytag, Bell & Howell and Johnson & Johnson.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—In active trade, grains drove to a firm to strong closing Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat was up 1 to 2¼; corn up ¼ to ¾; oats up ⅝ to 1; new oats up ⅝ to ⅞; rye up ½ to 1½; soybeans off ⅛ to up ½.

Buying power in May wheat surged the contract ahead by 2¼ cents and brokers with Southwest connections, who also bought July and September, helped the deliveries move up a full cent and better. Other strengthening factors included increased mill buying and export covering.

There was good demand for May corn, enough to advance it ⅝ cent. Exporters were the main buyers. And with cash interests also on the buying side, July moved ⅝ to ½ cent higher, September ¼ and December ⅜. But, as in wheat, the spot market fell slightly.

In oats, a scattered but consistent demand for old July led to a full cent advance.

Advances in rye were mainly in the May.

Processors were active in soybeans and moved September and January contracts higher by ½ cent. Strong meal prices also influenced trade.

In export business reported, Finland took about 186,500 bushels of spring wheat for April shipment. Norway was said to have postponed its scheduled purchases of 6,000 tons of corn and 6,000 milo. The United Kingdom did take 7,500 tons milo.

Grains at outside markets were mostly firm. The range:

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Match Lipstick And Nail Polish In Underlying Tone

Time and again you probably hear that you must match your lipstick and nail polish — but you well know, the color that flatters your face does not always become your hands.

Since your face ranks first in importance, naturally you must choose your lipstick first. Polish color just sort of tags along, with its becomingness to your hands left in the lap of fate.

It's a pretty-hit-and-hope method that you should and can abolish right now! All you need do is remember that polish must match lipstick in underlying tone, but may be lighter or darker in shade!

Let's suppose you wear an orchid lipstick that has the deep blue underlying tones that become your skin. Then you must wear a polish that also has deep blue underlying tones, but it does not have to be orchid. It can be any shade from light, shell pink to a dark, raspberry.

If your skin tones lie on the golden side, naturally you wear a lipstick color that is tinged with yellow. So, putting the rule to use, you choose a polish with a yellow cast, but it can be a light coral, a dark maroon or any shade in between.

To complement your cosmetic color scheme, all you have to do is make sure that both your lipstick and nail polish match in tone — that they are both on the blue side or both on the golden side.

But how do you decide whether a light shade or a dark shade will be more flattering to your hands? Here's your answer: Dark polish makes the nails look smaller; medium polish makes them look larger; and light polish, more delicate.

Here's how polish influences the color of the skin on your hands: If your hands are work or winter reddened, a darker polish will make them look fairer by contrast.

If you want to be sure that your hands appear as smooth and white as they are, a dark or medium shade will make them look whiter . . . but a light shade will make them look more fragile! Just state your preference, madame! And give your hands the opportunity to speak as eloquently as your lips!

City Engineer Asked To Check Sewer Plant Operation

The city engineer has been requested by John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property to check into the operation of the city's sewage treatment plant.

Long asked Charles R. Nuzum, the chief engineer, to report on these three points after looking over the setup with Thomas S. Post, plant superintendent:

Can it be operated more economically, and if so, how, together with a list of the maintenance projects necessary this spring and summer to keep the plant at 100 per cent efficiency.

Long observed that he feels he cannot make an appraisal of the plant's efficiency and operation because he is a layman and not versed in those matters.

The commissioner added that he feels this survey must be done by a qualified engineer, and not a layman.

He pointed out that some question has been raised at meetings of the Mayor and Council concerning the operation of the plant.

This needs the engineer's viewpoint, as the personnel of the installation was set up by a previous commissioner of streets and public property, and under a previous administration, he added.

Long requested Nuzum to submit the report as soon as possible.

The Mayor and Council has under study a plan to place the Evitts Creek Water Company and the sewage treatment plant under an assistant city engineer.

This engineering aide would reside in the city-owned home at Lake Gordon and be responsible for the water works and the sewage plant.

Applications were advertised, and examinations were conducted for the position, but final action on the selection has not been taken.

PE Crews Complete Work In Narrows

Line crews of the Potomac Edison Company's Cumberland district completed Tuesday the stringing of a long span of high tension wires across the east end of the Narrows.

The 1,000-foot span between poles on both sides of the Narrows, about 500 feet up the mountain, contains seven wires and has a sag in the middle of about 30 feet.

Harry G. Grimes, superintendent of the line department, said there are longer stretches of line in the district, but this particular job was made more difficult by having to string across two railroads, Route 40 and Wills Creek.

Four sets of clearance poles were erected to carry the wires over the four obstacles during the project. These will be removed.

Grimes noted that work was started Tuesday morning and was completed by 6:30 p. m. Good weather and ideal conditions were in the favor of the three crews comprising 15 men who handled the project.

In addition to the temporary clearance supports containing four sets of two poles, the PE contrived a rope barricade across the B & O tracks to provide additional protection.

There are two shield wires of three-eighth inch galvanized steel that are stretched seven and one-half feet above the conductor wires.

These provide protection against lightning as they are grounded. The bolts hit these shields and are carried into the ground and off the current-carrying wires.

The three conductors are of seven-eighths inch aluminum and street-reinforced wire built to withstand 15,000 pounds of weight.

The lines carry 1,150 pounds of tension and are stretched at only 30 per cent of the maximum sag limit.

Grimes said the PE will now work back from the support pole on the Haystack Mountain side to the Wallace Street substation.

Then later crews will carry the wires from the Wills Mountain side, up over the mountain to Corriganville.

The line department head noted that one span, down over the mountain into Corriganville is 1,300 feet long, but there are no obstacles to contend with.

The new line, over five miles long, connects the Wallace Street substation with Corriganville substation and provides another loop.

Under the PE's master plan of circuits serving this district, North End customers will benefit from this project. They will have two sources of power instead of one to depend on in case of emergency.

"Ghost Army"

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI)—A "ghost army" of some 30,000 lepers is on constant move throughout the Malayan Peninsula, it was disclosed here Tuesday. Dr. K. M. Reddy, medical superintendent of the Sengei Buloh leper settlement, said the wandering lepers were "shy" of coming forward to receive proper treatment because of economic reasons and social stigma.

The original cost of the White House was defrayed by the sale of land in Maryland and Virginia.

Berkeley Co. Reappraising Real Estate

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—A reappraisal of real estate in Berkeley County has begun under the new state equalization and re-evaluation program.

E. T. Wilkins and Associates, of Lincoln, Neb., has begun the project in Martinsburg. Plans call for completing the work in the city before starting in the rural areas.

The new tax assessments will be made on the basis of 50 per cent of the revised property values as determined by the appraisers.

The survey in Berkeley County is part of a pioneer effort being made throughout the state. It was authorized by the legislature as a result of widespread sentiment that significant inequities existed under the old assessment system.

State Game Unit Reports On Bills

The State Game and Inland Fish Commission has released a report on legislative matters pertaining to the commission and this section of Maryland before this session of the General Assembly.

Two bills have been signed into law, Senate Bill 134 increases the statutory deer hunting season from six to seven days and removes the one-day limit on the antlerless seasons set by the commission.

House Bill 119 removes the purchase price limit of $5 an acre for land or water acquired by the commission.

Bills enacted in the House of Delegates include House Bill 450 that raises the bounties paid by county commissioners of killing foxes, wildcats, weasels and horned owls in Washington County.

Another measure enacted by the house fixes the times for hearings, orders and appeals by the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Bills passing the House include House Bill 378 that permits year round fishing for bass, pike, pickerel, walleye, shad and herring in non-tidal waters.

Another passed by the delegates is House Bill 462, sponsored by the Allegany County delegation, that specifies that the Game and Inland Fish Commission shall have authority to enforce certain sections of Article 27 of the state's criminal code.

Bills introduced affecting game and inland fish and still pending in the General Assembly are:

House Bill 583 — To make it unlawful to kill any fox pursued by dogs.

House Bill 635 — To provide for the sale of hunting licenses by retail business operators.

House Bill 638 — To provide for the sale of fishing license by retail business operators.

House Bill 520 — To define "baited" area for hunting purposes as being within gunshot range from the place where wild fowl are being hunted.

Senate Bill 524 — To require a $100 fine for any persor failing to obey a summons issued for violation of the game and fish laws.

Senate Bill 525 — To provide for a fine of from $10 to $50 for persons refusing to furnish identification to game officers.

Senate Bill 478 — Except for the English or European house sparrow, European starling, buzzard and crow, it shall be unlawful to hunt, shoot, kill, trap, net or destroy, or to possess in any manner, any wild bird or nest or egg. However, hawks and owls can be shot by landowners if it is necessar to kill them to protect his poultry or game. Any person killing or catching wild birds will be subject to a fine, upon conviction, of not more than $70.

Winter Rec Programs End

Two winter programs sponsored by the City Recreation Department had their final sessions last night at Fort Hill High School.

The badminton class for men and women was conducted by Eugene Mason, recreational director, reported.

The final volleyball and basketball session of the Women's Recreation Association also was concluded.

Both classes have been underway since January and have been well attended, Mason pointed out.

Mason also reported that applications for summer jobs with the department have been coming in at a good rate and it is expected a good group of young adults will be attracted.

Thirty applications have been made so far for the positions available — playground director and leader, projectionist, life guard and cashier-checker at the Constitution Park Pool, and baseball umpires.

The People of Maryland "Killed" House Milk Control Bill . . . But now an even worse bill has been introduced in the Senate!

Maryland House Bill 414, to establish a state milk commission is a dead duck. But now backers of these socialistic milk control schemes have brought it back to life, washed it, perfumed it, called it a different name, and introduced it into the Maryland Senate as S.B. 565.

It's actually the very same bill that met such overwhelming opposition when it was introduced in the House. Only the name and the words have been changed. But words and phrases change nothing. The purpose of this bill is exactly the same as dead H.B. 414, to fix prices all the way from the cow to the table—not down but UP—so that it will serve its masters just as they want it to.

JUST WHO IS BEHIND THIS BILL?

Senate Bill 565 was introduced, but not sponsored, by Sen. John C. North (D., Talbot), "by request". In other words, somebody asked him to introduce it, and he did. Who? An article which appeared in the Sunday, March 15, 1959, Baltimore AMERICAN gives us the answer. Based on statements made by Pratt Rexford, head of Milk Distributors Association, Inc., and quoted in the article(there can be no doubt that Senate Bill 565 was inspired by a group of Baltimore dairies which would like to see price competition in the milk industry killed.

IF THIS BILL PASSES, THEIR BIGGER PROFITS WILL COME OUT OF YOUR POCKETS!

Just as H.B. 414 provided for a milk commission with power to fix milk prices from farm to you, so does Senate Bill 565. Backers of this bill openly admit they seek guaranteed immunity from competition. The milk control bill would give them exactly what they want. Then what happens to consumer milk prices They are bound to go up to a level where every dairy—no matter how inept or inefficient its management—would be assured a nice profit. And the only place this profit can come from is out of the savings free enterprise is now bringing you. Just as in the commission controlled states of Pennsylvania and Virginia, no dairy could sell you even one quart of milk at ONE penny below the commission-dictated price. Is this what you want?

ACT NOW TO STOP THIS SOCIALISTIC MILK CONTROL BILL!

Supporters of Senate Bill 565 mean business! They're determined to see it passed into law before the Maryland Legislature adjourns the first week in April. If they're to be stopped, they must be stopped now! Unless you act fast, you may find yourself stuck with a socialistic control bill that smells even worse than the House Bill you helped bury.

ACT NOW!...DON'T DELAY!

Write or wire your State Senator, Charles M. See, State House, Annapolis, Maryland immediately demanding that he make every effort to defeat proposed Senate Bill 565. Do it now. The hearing on this bill will be Thursday, March 26, 1959.

Celanese Works On Missile Fuel

NEW YORK (AP) — Celanese Corp. of America Wednesday hired a former U. S. Army scientist to supervise research in guided missile fuels.

The scientist is Julius P. Zeigler, former chief of chemicals, propellants and explosives engineering development in the Army's ammunition command. He was named manager of high-energy materials operations.

Richard W. Kixmiller, Celanese vice president and general manager of the chemicals division, emphasized the exploratory nature of the project and said the company has no missile-fuel products ready for marketing.

He pointed out, however, that solid and liquid rocket fuels are closely related to the company's production of industrial chemicals.

1,100 Phones Added In Area

Robert G. Garner, manager of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, reported 1,100 new phones were added in 1958 in the Cumberland area, which includes Allegany and Garrett counties.

Of this number, the largest gain was made in Cumberland, where 506 telephones were installed.

Mr. Garner also announced the telephone company is making plans to convert telephones in the Oldtown and Grantsville areas to the dial system.

The C&P Company in its annual report said a near record number of phones was added last year despite a decline in growth early in the year.

The report said that in addition to the 80,000 new phones added—the second largest in the firm's history—$44,000,000 was spent on new construction.

The report also listed the new dial center in Frostburg among the major construction projects completed last year.

Celanese Works On Missile Fuel

NEW YORK (AP) — Celanese Corp. of America Wednesday hired a former U. S. Army scientist to supervise research in guided missile fuels.

The scientist is Julius P. Zeigler, former chief of chemicals, propellants and explosives engineering development in the Army's ammunition command. He was named manager of high-energy materials operations.

Richard W. Kixmiller, Celanese vice president and general manager of the chemicals division, emphasized the exploratory nature of the project and said the company has no missile-fuel products ready for marketing.

He pointed out, however, that solid and liquid rocket fuels are closely related to the company's production of industrial chemicals.

Cut Everybody Else's Budget

Members of the U. S. Senate, it would seem by their pronouncements, are determined to cut the other fellow's expenses. Senator Douglas of Illinois has criticized the Administration's fleet of limousines, and wants it cut by two-thirds. Ninety-nine seven-passenger automobiles are now assigned to the White House, the Pentagon, individual Cabinet members and lesser officials.

Taxpayers, who find themselves faced with still heavier burdens from all levels of government this year, will admit the Administration's hierarchy seems to be riding pretty high on the hog.

But what about the cost of maintaining the Senators in their accustomed aplomb? They now have a new Senate Office Building which cost their constituents $88 million so far. But they don't like it. The clocks don't work, it seems, and the elevators stick sometimes. And the microphones don't give a very complimentary effect to the speaker's voice. The latter complaint is probably the most grievous, because a silent Senator is about as rare as a thrifty one.

Until these deficiencies can be rectified—at an additional charge to the taxpayer, of course—the solons will have to content themselves with their three-bathroom suites. Yes, there are three bathrooms for every Senator.

It is to be expected that a dignified office from which the higher echelon of government carries on its work will cost money, but isn't a building which costs an average of almost a million dollars per Senator, and which provides each with three bathrooms, going to extremes?

Commendations are due Senators who wish to trim the fat off foreign aid — and recent exposures of waste in Laos and other recipients indicates it is still present—and to cut down on the number of high priced automobiles used by the Executive Branch, but Senators need not roam so far from their plush offices to find savings for the taxpayers. There is an ample sum to be flushed from their own domain.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Politics And Taxes

The political battle between Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York State and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City hurts nobody but the taxpayer. The Governor demands more taxes for the state, more than half of which are paid by those who live in the city. The Governor demands more taxes before he proposes to reduce tax expenditures by any means; the Mayor contends that the city should receive back from the state a large proportion of the taxes collected from the city or failing that, that the city should be permitted by the state to tax off-track betting.

The Governor will not permit the Mayor to collect any but nuisance taxes which will make the Mayor very unpopular. On the other hand, unless things go very wrong, the Governor could find himself with a surplus by 1960 and he could then give the citizens refunds of their own money, which would make him very popular in a year when popularity could count, particularly as regards a Presidential nomination.

There can be no justification for not collecting off-track betting taxes. The state collects on-track betting taxes. Actually, it could be a large source of revenue. The state cannot object to taxing off-track betting on moral grounds without divesting itself of the authority to collect on-track taxes, the state maintaining a Racing Commission which controls all race tracks and supervises a pari-mutuel system. If it is immoral for the city to collect a tax on off-track betting, why is it moral for the state not only to collect a tax but to supervise the business? It would seem that Governor Rockefeller's moral code is double-standard.

Involved in this proposition is not morality but politics. The state Administration is Republican; the city Administration is Democratic. One side wants to hurt the other. It is a struggle over the control of New York City. Meanwhile, the taxpayer suffers.

So far as Governor Nelson Rockefeller is concerned, he started his elective career like a ball of fire. He ate hot dogs, knishes, pastrami, pizza pies and got the votes. His lady sewed a label on a garment and thereby established herself as a liberal. Everything looked as though Nelson Rockefeller would have a brilliant career. Then he got into this tax situation. How damaging the tax situation is to Governor Rockefeller's political chances, it is impossible to know at the present time.

There is a theory about this. First, it is that he masters his party, so that all the divergent elements become obedient servants of the Governor, the way they were when Thomas E. Dewey was Governor; thereby, Rockefeller will control the enormous New York delegation to the Republican National Convention. However, Rockefeller is not Tom Dewey; he does not possess Dewey's political acumen nor will he have time between now and 1960 to develop the loyalty which Dewey demanded and received. Secondly, Dewey did not build strength by raising taxes and mailing refunds; his political strength was the result of astute and competent administration over a long period of time. Thirdly, Dewey was careful not to pick a quarrel with New York City where the citizens do not forget how they were used and where the Republican Party really does not count for much.

The administration of government in both New York State and New York City is antiquated, obsolescent, wasteful and costly. The city particularly suffers from an overlapping of authority which is absurd. In the first place the state possesses control over the administration of municipal affairs which is duplicative and therefore costly. Either municipal government is entrusted with local tasks or it should be abolished and the state should run everything. Certainly, the metropolitan area of New York City which now includes at least six counties of New York State and about 15,000,000 persons either manages its own affairs, turns them over to the state or separates itself from the state entirely. Most New Yorkers would prefer separation.

Rockefeller blew into New York State affairs, in which he had previously played no part, like a cyclone. No public figure has caused as much distress in so short a time. He has moved forward with a ruthlessness that is mindful of his grandfather. It could cause a strike of all municipal employes in New York City.

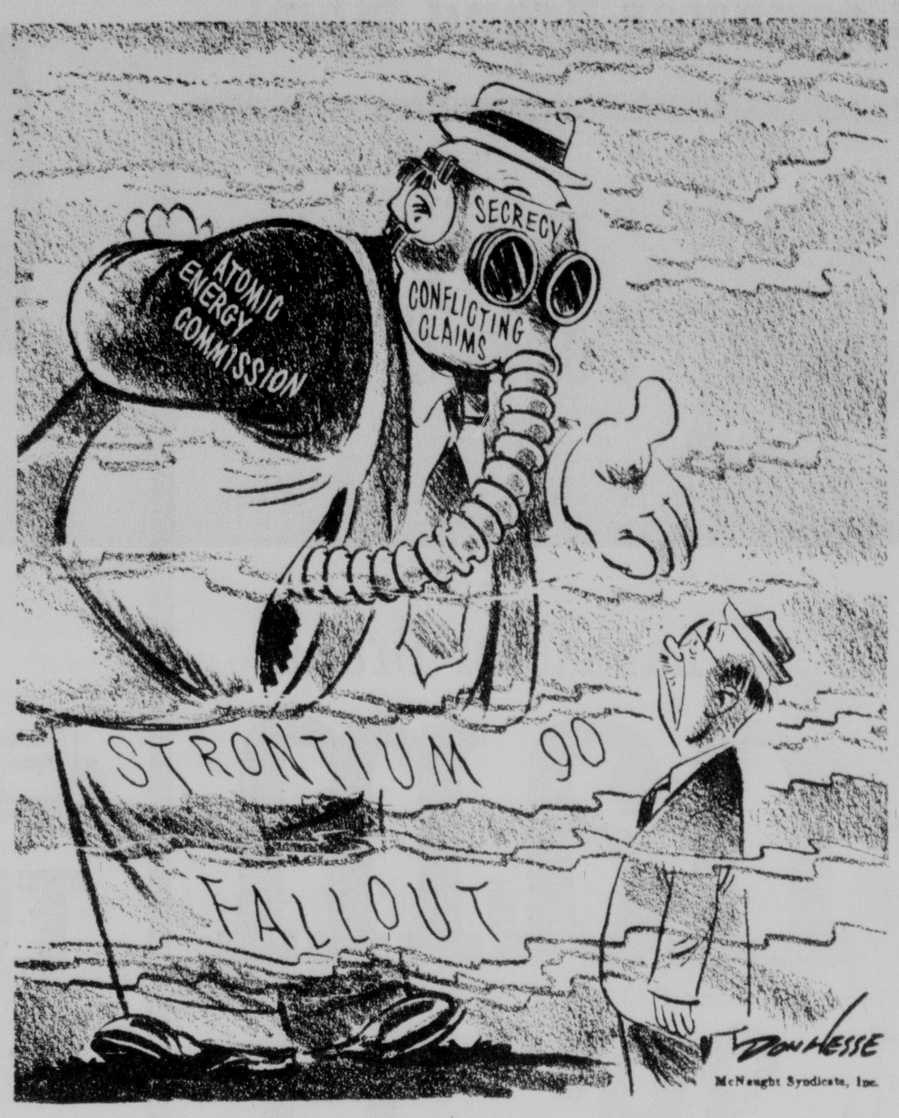
'I Tell You—There's Nothing To Worry About'



Jordan's Courageous King Hussein Has Had Many Brushes With Death

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—King Hussein of Jordan, the 23-year-old monarch now being entertained in Washington, was kneeling beside his grandfather, King Abdullah, in the Great Mosque of Jerusalem some years ago when a Moslem fanatic shot and killed his grandfather. A bullet grazed the young prince.

That was Hussein's first brush with death. There have been many attempts on his life since, the last by Syrian planes when he was attempting to leave Jordan last year.

When I was given an audience with the young king in Amman over a year ago, he was just trying to get a parliamentary form of government re-established after a revolt and another attempt on his life. In my opinion, he has more courage than any other Arab leader.

Above his desk hangs a picture of King Abdullah who held two secret meetings with Mrs. Golda Meir, now Foreign Minister of Israel, in an attempt to straighten out relations between the two countries. That was why Abdullah was shot. Probably, if little King Hussein were given half a chance, he too would try to settle problems with Israel.

Three Luxury Jets

The Defense Department has denied that the three big Boeing jet luxury liners which Senator Engle of California has been scrutinizing were designed for the use of President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, and Secretary of State Dulles.

"They will be for pool use by the President and other high-ranking officials," says Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder. "Neither the Vice President or the Secretary of State will have a special plane designated for his use. In any instance where either the Vice President or Secretary of State has required a plane for official travel, arrangements have been made with the Special Air Mission fleet."

This is true, but a bit deceptive. The Special Air Mission Fleet even includes the President's private plane, the Columbine, and theoretically it is available to other people. In actual practice, however, it is not assigned to other people except to bring a president of a foreign country, a king, or other dignitary to Washington.

The new Boeing 707 jets will be in the same general category, and Senator Engle points out that by saving the $15,000,000 to be spent on them, plus $75,000,000 for 17 other "executive" planes, the administration could save $90,000,000 out of the $97,000,000 which it doesn't want to spend for airports.

The thre new Boeing jets will each be carpeted with a plush beige rug, will have beige sofa beds on each side, plus one large table with swivel chairs on each side, and a smaller desk table. Four game tables will be installed in the rear; the motif fore and aft will be blue.

Plans call for five galleys to supply cold drinks and hot precooked meals. The biggest added cost will be for extra communications, including a "single side band" system which permits direct telephone calls to any place in the world.

Washington Whirl

It was John Foster Dulles himself, not the Republican National Committee, who picked Ogden "Brownie" Reid, 33-year-old publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, to be U. S. Ambassador to Israel. Dulles had read the series of articles the Herald Trib published by Golda Meir, Israeli Foreign Minister, and figured that because of Reid's friendship with Mrs. Meir he would be the logical choice as the new U. S. Ambassador . . . Congressman Clarence Cannon, who represents Mark Twain's district in Missouri, has turned the student loan program over to a special subcommittee packed with the most resolute budget carvers in Congress. It looks like curtains for student aid . . . Florida's Congressman Charles Bennett painted a picture recently for his mother. To set it off, he bought a frame for $10. The clerk who sold the frame asked how much insurance should be taken out for mailing the portrait plus frame. When Bennett left the valuation to her judgment, the clerk suggested $5. "In other words," says the Congressman, "my painting had reduced the frame's value by half." . . . Representatives of 300 insurance companies have been in Washington bombarding the Senate Finance Committee against the new insurance tax bill which they claim is slanted in favor of Prudential and the big mutual companies.

Banking Partners Row

The Eisenhower administration has been accused of being banker-dominated. However, its banker-advisers don't always agree. Two of them, Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon and foreign aid adviser William Draper, both from the Wall Street banking firm of Dillon, Read, have been battling backstage over foreign aid.

Dillon has been fighting to increase economic aid not military aid, while his old partner, Draper, wants more military aid.

Dillon wants to offer underdeveloped countries more doctors, agricultural advice, irrigation and sanitation help free of military strings, to counter the Soviet economic offensive. Draper contends it's more important to give military help. As a result, Dillon angrily accused Draper of stacking his foreign aid committee with retired military men.

Serving under Draper are Admiral Radford, General Gruenther, and Gen. Joe McNarney. In the showdown, President Eisenhower, also a military man, went along with his old military colleagues for $400,000,000 extra of military, not economic, aid.

The Weird Doctrine That Profits Are Sinful

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Strange and disturbing words are coming from some Democrats on Capitol Hill these days. They have a socialistic flavor. One doctrine being given some endorsement is that profits are, in effect, sinful, that "retained earnings" are bad, and that companies should not save up for a rainy day but should let the deluge come. These companies are being told now that they ought to borrow money for new capital hereafter and not try to accumulate it out of earnings.

To save up money to buy new plant and equipment has always seemed heretofore to be the principal way to expand the economy through the private-enterprise system, but, curiously enough, now this method is being denounced as a departure from that system.

Reading the testimony a few days ago of Walter Reuther, head of the largest automobile union in the world, and that of Representative Wright Patman of Texas, Democrat, before the House Banking and Currency Committee, one comes across these passages:

"Mr. Reuther: In the auto industry we expanded since the war in excess of eight billion dollars, and more than 90 per cent of that eight billion dollars was paid for by the American consumers of automobiles, and only ten per cent represented new capital. I mean something quite revolutionary is taking place in the American system of free enterprise.

"The whole concept was that there was a money market, and if you wanted to expand your company to the tune of a billion dollars, you floated bonds, or you went into the money market and you got people, based upon the attractiveness of your corporate effort, to invest their money in your plant. That is an old-fashioned way of doing it. They don't do it that way any more.

"Mr. Patman: I think you can truthfully say that the capital thus acquired is what could be called costless capital. In other words, the price of the product was increased enough to take enough money away from the consumer to put it into the fund for retained earnings, of which the people in charge would get the benefit, as distinguished from the old way of selling the goods at the lowest possible price, in a competitive market, and letting the person keep that money which is being taken away from him for retained earnings to invest anywher he wanted to so he would get the benefit. . . .

"Mr. Reuther: "I think what you say is absolutely correct. I think this is consumer-financed capital. . . . They say, 'You want an automobile, this is the price you pay,' even though factored into that price a portion is ear-marked for expansion. . . ."

Up to now it was considered a virtue in business to plow back into the company as much of the earnings as possible after paying the stockholders each year a reasonable return on their investment. This has been called the planting of "seed money." It has been hailed with pride as the great achievement of American business enterprises — growth through one's own efforts. Constant expansion of an entire industry has thus been assured, and this has meant also the creation of more and more jobs each year for an increasing number of people.

Now business is being told that it must pay higher wages, yet reduce prices and depend on borrowings in the uncertain money markets of today and tomorrow. When money is borrowed at higher and higher interest rates, Uncle Sam, of course, has to bear most of the cost — 52 cents out of every dollar of interest expense, because this is deductible for tax purposes. Taxpayers generally would have to carry more and more of the borrowing burden of an individual industry if "retained earnings" were discouraged.

But anyone who thinks that, out of the $600,000,000 which represents the annual average of "retained earnings" for the last 12 years in the motor industry, all or any considerable part could be used to reduce prices is woefully mistaken. In the first place, businesses are supposed to set aside, anyhow, every year a certain sum of pay off any debt incurred by the sale of bonds. Likewise, provision has to be made for the payment of interest on debt. In addition, provision must be made for funds to carry over from one year to another an expense due to an unfavorable turn in business or if a new model has to be pioneered.

Uncertainty as to whether capital would or would not be available in the money markets two or three years hence could mean the difference between a management decision to create new jobs or to lay off workers. After all, it is sound reasoning for a whole industry to put aside at least $600,000,000 a year as capital in order to safeguard a volume of business that involves 25 times as much in a given year. This means putting aside four cents out of every dollar received annually from the buyers of automobiles. For the figures show that in 1955 the total value of all cars and trucks sold was nearly 15 billion dollars. So, while 90 per cent of 8 billion dollars of "retained earnings" in 12 years sounds like a lot of money, it is only $600,000,000 a year of new capital, which is a relatively small insurance fund considering the risks involved in the nation's No. 1 industry.

Congress back in 1936 tried to compel the distribution of profits by imposing a penalty for undistributed surpluses. The net result was to intensify the Depression so that it became worse in 1937. Congress promptly confessed its error and repealed the law.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — The Administration is wary of sending any high officials to Russia this year because of the cavalier treatment Nikita Khrushchev accorded British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

However, some State Department offiicals are veering to the belief that to begin arranging visits of selected high American officials might have the effect of softening Russia's stand on Berlin. The thinking here is that such visits may convince Russia's leaders of our peaceful intentions.

The thinking here is again actively urging that a visit to Moscow and some other Russian centers be worked out for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The Russians view Nixon as Eisenhower's heir-apparent. He would, of course, be the top American who could go, excepting only the President, and would be considered Anastas Mikoyan's opposite number in the United States.

Another possible visitor would be Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Benson had planned to make an inspection trip of Soviet agriculture last year, but was prevented from doing so by the press of department business.

Both Nixon and Benson could find ample reason to go to Russia without conferring officially with Communist leaders. Beginning in July the United States will have a large exhibit at the Moscow trade fair.

Margin Loopholes

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—While the Federal Reserve Board has imposed 90 per cent margin requirements for the carrying and buying of stocks, this is easy to get around.

One of the ways is for an investor or speculator to buy convertible bonds and get a loan from a bank. The bank will lend at par, and where the bond is selling at a premium of $15 to $20 above $100 par, that is the margin.

On the bond selling at $115, the margin is only 13 per cent. On the bond quoted at $120, the margin is only 17 per cent.

This is a lot different from the 90 per cent requirement on carrying stock. If the 90 per cent requirements held for convertible bonds, the buyer would have to put up $103.50 on the $115 bond and on the $120 bond $108, compared to $15 and $20 respectively under present bond buying credit regulation.

The convertible bond buyer gets an even better break. He can in a brief period convert the bonds into stock and the same credit arrangements carry over to the stocks.

So, by taking advantage of this loophole, the stock buyer by the simple means of acquiring a convertible bond and turning it into stock can get margins as low as 13 or 17 per cent. Some banks will require no more than 10 per cent.

This is one of the reasons for the increasing interest in convertibles. Once when the price reaches the equivalent of the conversion price for stock, the bonds move with the stock market.

The convertible bond buyer in such a situation has several advantages:

1.—He gets the benefit of low margins.

2.—He gets an assured income as long as he holds the bonds.

3.—He gets a better run for his money—his leverage is greater than in stock. He is carrying a bigger investment—almost nine times more for his money than he can in stocks.

Corporations are attracted to convertible bonds because of this appeal to investors, but also for the reason interest is a deductible business expense, while dividends on stock—common or preferred—is not.

Some corporations, particularly utilities, are finding convertible bonds a cheaper way of eventually obtaining equity funds. The bonds will bring a higher price than if they sold a corresponding amount of stock. Companies who take this round about but cheaper way of doing equity financing will have an unrestricted or early call date for retiring bonds. Consolidated Edison recently sold a convertible bond which it can call July 1.

Glasses Won't Remedy All Vision Problems

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many older persons are discouraged when they cannot find glasses to improve their vision. The answer is simple: Eye disturbances exist that spectacles will not correct. Circulatory changes or scars on the retina, for example cannot be remedied with glasses.

But the situation is far from hopeless. Many of the oldsters are able to use visual aids such as magnifiers, telescopic lenses, or pinhole glasses. These devices improve vision to such an extent that television and reading can be enjoyed.

Some of these aids are expensive and beyond the pocketbook of many a retired senior citizen. I understand, however, the American Foundation for the Blind will sell them to needy individuals at a reasonable price.

Dr. Louis A. Breffeilh found that a special yellow tinted lens helped improve the traveling vision of many with subnormal sight. These Akopas or Novial lenses are not new; they often are prescribed for night driving and skeet shooting and were devised to offer contrasts on murkey or foggy days. These lenses must be used along with the prescription glasses. When successful, the man or woman with subnormal sight is able to get about without assistance.

Dr. Breffeilh also found that the general health of aged individuals with faulty vision must be built up to obtain maximum improvement in seeing. Many need supplementary vitamins because of poor dietary habits, ill fitting dentures, or gastrointestinal disturbances.

Tinted lenses are not a panacea for everyone with poor eyesight. If possible, a trial with the clip-on variety should be made before they are purchased. The prescription of the original glasses can be incorporated into the yellow lens when they are found to be helpful.

Cut Everybody Else's Budget

Members of the U. S. Senate, it would seem by their pronouncements, are determined to cut the other fellow's expenses. Senator Douglas of Illinois has criticized the Administration's fleet of limousines, and wants it cut by two-thirds. Ninety-nine seven-passenger automobiles are now assigned to the White House, the Pentagon, individual Cabinet members and lesser officials.

Taxpayers, who find themselves faced with still heavier burdens from all levels of government this year, will admit the Administration's hierarchy seems to be riding pretty high on the hog.

But what about the cost of maintaining the Senators in their accustomed aplomb? They now have a new Senate Office Building which cost their constituents $88 million so far. But they don't like it. The clocks don't work, it seems, and the elevators stick sometimes. And the microphones don't give a very complimentary effect to the speaker's voice. The latter complaint is probably the most grievous, because a silent Senator is about as rare as a thrifty one.

Until these deficiencies can be rectified—at an additional charge to the taxpayer, of course—the solons will have to content themselves with their three-bathroom suites. Yes, there are three bathrooms for every Senator.

It is to be expected that a dignified office from which the higher echelon of government carries on its work will cost money, but isn't a building which costs an average of almost a million dollars per Senator, and which provides each with three bathrooms, going to extremes?

Commendations are due Senators who wish to trim the fat off foreign aid — and recent exposures of waste in Laos and other recipients indicates it is still present—and to cut down on the number of high priced automobiles used by the Executive Branch, but Senators need not roam so far from their plush offices to find savings for the taxpayers. There is an ample sum to be flushed from their own domain.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Politics And Taxes

The political battle between Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York State and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City hurts nobody but the taxpayer. The Governor demands more taxes for the state, more than half of which are paid by those who live in the city. The Governor demands more taxes before he proposes to reduce tax expenditures by any means; the Mayor contends that the city should receive back from the state a large proportion of the taxes collected from the city or failing that, that the city should be permitted by the state to tax off-track betting.

The Governor will not permit the Mayor to collect any but nuisance taxes which will make the Mayor very unpopular. On the other hand, unless things go very wrong, the Governor could find himself with a surplus by 1960 and he could then give the citizens refunds of their own money, which would make him very popular in a year when popularity could count, particularly as regards a Presidential nomination.

There can be no justification for not collecting off-track betting taxes. The state collects on-track betting taxes. Actually, it could be a large source of revenue. The state cannot object to taxing off-track betting on moral grounds without divesting itself of the authority to collect on-track taxes, the state maintaining a Racing Commission which controls all race tracks and supervises a pari-mutuel system. If it is immoral for the city to collect a tax on off-track betting, why is it moral for the state not only to collect a tax but to supervise the business? It would seem that Governor Rockefeller's moral code is double-standard.

Involved in this proposition is not morality but politics. The state Administration is Republican; the city Administration is Democratic. One side wants to hurt the other. It is a struggle over the control of New York City. Meanwhile, the taxpayer suffers.

So far as Governor Nelson Rockefeller is concerned, he started his elective career like a ball of fire. He ate hot dogs, knishes, pastrami, pizza pies and got the votes. His lady sewed a label on a garment and thereby established herself as a liberal. Everything looked as though Nelson Rockefeller would have a brilliant career. Then he got into this tax situation. How damaging the tax situation is to Governor Rockefeller's political chances, it is impossible to know at the present time.

There is a theory about this. First, it is that he masters his party, so that all the divergent elements become obedient servants of the Governor, the way they were when Thomas E. Dewey was Governor; thereby, Rockefeller will control the enormous New York delegation to the Republican National Convention. However, Rockefeller is not Tom Dewey; he does not possess Dewey's political acumen nor will he have time between now and 1960 to develop the loyalty which Dewey demanded and received. Secondly, Dewey did not build strength by raising taxes and mailing refunds; his political strength was the result of astute and competent administration over a long period of time. Thirdly, Dewey was careful not to pick a quarrel with New York City where the citizens do not forget how they were used and where the Republican Party really does not count for much.

The administration of government in both New York State and New York City is antiquated, obsolescent, wasteful and costly. The city particularly suffers from an overlapping of authority which is absurd. In the first place the state possesses control over the administration of municipal affairs which is duplicative and therefore costly. Either municipal government is entrusted with local tasks or it should be abolished and the state should run everything. Certainly, the metropolitan area of New York City which now includes at least six counties of New York State and about 15,000,000 persons either manages its own affairs, turns them over to the state or separates itself from the state entirely. Most New Yorkers would prefer separation.

Rockefeller blew into New York State affairs, in which he had previously played no part, like a cyclone. No public figure has caused as much distress in so short a time. He has moved forward with a ruthlessness that is mindful of his grandfather. It could cause a strike of all municipal employes in New York City.

'I Tell You—There's Nothing To Worry About'

Jordan's Courageous King Hussein Has Had Many Brushes With Death

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—King Hussein of Jordan, the 23-year-old monarch now being entertained in Washington, was kneeling beside his grandfather, King Abdullah, in the Great Mosque of Jerusalem some years ago when a Moslem fanatic shot and killed his grandfather. A bullet grazed the young prince.

That was Hussein's first brush with death. There have been many attempts on his life since, the last by Syrian planes when he was attempting to leave Jordan last year.

When I was given an audience with the young king in Amman over a year ago, he was just trying to get a parliamentary form of government re-established after a revolt and another attempt on his life. In my opinion, he has more courage than any other Arab leader.

Above his desk hangs a picture of King Abdullah who held two secret meetings with Mrs. Golda Meir, now Foreign Minister of Israel, in an attempt to straighten out relations between the two countries. That was why Abdullah was shot. Probably, if little King Hussein were given half a chance, he too would try to settle problems with Israel.

Three Luxury Jets

The Defense Department has denied that the three big Boeing jet luxury liners which Senator Engle of California has been scrutinizing were designed for the use of President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, and Secretary of State Dulles.

"They will be for pool use by the President and other high-ranking officials," says Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder. "Neither the Vice President or the Secretary of State will have a special plane designated for his use. In any instance where either the Vice President or Secretary of State has required a plane for official travel, arrangements have been made with the Special Air Mission fleet."

This is true, but a bit deceptive. The Special Air Mission Fleet even includes the President's private plane, the Columbine, and theoretically it is available to other people. In actual practice, however, it is not assigned to other people except to bring a president of a foreign country, a king, or other dignitary to Washington.

The new Boeing 707 jets will be in the same general category, and Senator Engle points out that by saving the $15,000,000 to be spent on them, plus $75,000,000 for 17 other "executive" planes, the administration could save $90,000,000 out of the $97,000,000 which it doesn't want to spend for airports.

The thre new Boeing jets will each be carpeted with a plush beige rug, will have beige sofa beds on each side, plus one large table with swivel chairs on each side, and a smaller desk table. Four game tables will be installed in the rear; the motif fore and aft will be blue.

Plans call for five galleys to supply cold drinks and hot precooked meals. The biggest added cost will be for extra communications, including a "single side band" system which permits direct telephone calls to any place in the world.

Washington Whirl

It was John Foster Dulles himself, not the Republican National Committee, who picked Ogden "Brownie" Reid, 33-year-old publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, to be U. S. Ambassador to Israel. Dulles had read the series of articles the Herald Trib published by Golda Meir, Israeli Foreign Minister, and figured that because of Reid's friendship with Mrs. Meir he would be the logical choice as the new U. S. Ambassador . . . Congressman Clarence Cannon, who represents Mark Twain's district in Missouri, has turned the student loan program over to a special subcommittee packed with the most resolute budget carvers in Congress. It looks like curtains for student aid . . . Florida's Congressman Charles Bennett painted a picture recently for his mother. To set it off, he bought a frame for $10. The clerk who sold the frame asked how much insurance should be taken out for mailing the portrait plus frame. When Bennett left the valuation to her judgment, the clerk suggested $5. "In other words," says the Congressman, "my painting had reduced the frame's value by half." . . . Representatives of 300 insurance companies have been in Washington bombarding the Senate Finance Committee against the new insurance tax bill which they claim is slanted in favor of Prudential and the big mutual companies.

Banking Partners Row

The Eisenhower administration has been accused of being banker-dominated. However, its banker-advisers don't always agree. Two of them, Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon and foreign aid adviser William Draper, both from the Wall Street banking firm of Dillon, Read, have been battling backstage over foreign aid.

Dillon has been fighting to increase economic aid not military aid, while his old partner, Draper, wants more military aid.

Dillon wants to offer underdeveloped countries more doctors, agricultural advice, irrigation and sanitation help free of military strings, to counter the Soviet economic offensive. Draper contends it's more important to give military help. As a result, Dillon angrily accused Draper of stacking his foreign aid committee with retired military men.

Serving under Draper are Admiral Radford, General Gruenther, and Gen. Joe McNarney. In the showdown, President Eisenhower, also a military man, went along with his old military colleagues for $400,000,000 extra of military, not economic, aid.

The Weird Doctrine That Profits Are Sinful

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Strange and disturbing words are coming from some Democrats on Capitol Hill these days. They have a socialistic flavor. One doctrine being given some endorsement is that profits are, in effect, sinful, that "retained earnings" are bad, and that companies should not save up for a rainy day but should let the deluge come. These companies are being told now that they ought to borrow money for new capital hereafter and not try to accumulate it out of earnings.

To save up money to buy new plant and equipment has always seemed heretofore to be the principal way to expand the economy through the private-enterprise system, but, curiously enough, now this method is being denounced as a departure from that system.

Reading the testimony a few days ago of Walter Reuther, head of the largest automobile union in the world, and that of Representative Wright Patman of Texas, Democrat, before the House Banking and Currency Committee, one comes across these passages:

"Mr. Reuther: In the auto industry we expanded since the war in excess of eight billion dollars, and more than 90 per cent of that eight billion dollars was paid for by the American consumers of automobiles, and only ten per cent represented new capital. I mean something quite revolutionary is taking place in the American system of free enterprise.

"The whole concept was that there was a money market, and if you wanted to expand your company to the tune of a billion dollars, you floated bonds, or you went into the money market and you got people, based upon the attractiveness of your corporate effort, to invest their money in your plant. That is an old-fashioned way of doing it. They don't do it that way any more.

"Mr. Patman: I think you can truthfully say that the capital thus acquired is what could be called costless capital. In other words, the price of the product was increased enough to take enough money away from the consumer to put it into the fund for retained earnings, of which the people in charge would get the benefit, as distinguished from the old way of selling the goods at the lowest possible price, in a competitive market, and letting the person keep that money which is being taken away from him for retained earnings to invest anywher he wanted to so he would get the benefit. . . .

"Mr. Reuther: "I think what you say is absolutely correct. I think this is consumer-financed capital. . . . They say, 'You want an automobile, this is the price you pay,' even though factored into that price a portion is ear-marked for expansion. . . ."

Up to now it was considered a virtue in business to plow back into the company as much of the earnings as possible after paying the stockholders each year a reasonable return on their investment. This has been called the planting of "seed money." It has been hailed with pride as the great achievement of American business enterprises — growth through one's own efforts. Constant expansion of an entire industry has thus been assured, and this has meant also the creation of more and more jobs each year for an increasing number of people.

Now business is being told that it must pay higher wages, yet reduce prices and depend on borrowings in the uncertain money markets of today and tomorrow. When money is borrowed at higher and higher interest rates, Uncle Sam, of course, has to bear most of the cost — 52 cents out of every dollar of interest expense, because this is deductible for tax purposes. Taxpayers generally would have to carry more and more of the borrowing burden of an individual industry if "retained earnings" were discouraged.

But anyone who thinks that, out of the $600,000,000 which represents the annual average of "retained earnings" for the last 12 years in the motor industry, all or any considerable part could be used to reduce prices is woefully mistaken. In the first place, businesses are supposed to set aside, anyhow, every year a certain sum of pay off any debt incurred by the sale of bonds. Likewise, provision has to be made for the payment of interest on debt. In addition, provision must be made for funds to carry over from one year to another an expense due to an unfavorable turn in business or if a new model has to be pioneered.

Uncertainty as to whether capital would or would not be available in the money markets two or three years hence could mean the difference between a management decision to create new jobs or to lay off workers. After all, it is sound reasoning for a whole industry to put aside at least $600,000,000 a year as capital in order to safeguard a volume of business that involves 25 times as much in a given year. This means putting aside four cents out of every dollar received annually from the buyers of automobiles. For the figures show that in 1955 the total value of all cars and trucks sold was nearly 15 billion dollars. So, while 90 per cent of 8 billion dollars of "retained earnings" in 12 years sounds like a lot of money, it is only $600,000,000 a year of new capital, which is a relatively small insurance fund considering the risks involved in the nation's No. 1 industry.

Congress back in 1936 tried to compel the distribution of profits by imposing a penalty for undistributed surpluses. The net result was to intensify the Depression so that it became worse in 1937. Congress promptly confessed its error and repealed the law.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — The Administration is wary of sending any high officials to Russia this year because of the cavalier treatment Nikita Khrushchev accorded British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

However, some State Department offiicals are veering to the belief that to begin arranging visits of selected high American officials might have the effect of softening Russia's stand on Berlin. The thinking here is that such visits may convince Russia's leaders of our peaceful intentions.

The thinking here is again actively urging that a visit to Moscow and some other Russian centers be worked out for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The Russians view Nixon as Eisenhower's heir-apparent. He would, of course, be the top American who could go, excepting only the President, and would be considered Anastas Mikoyan's opposite number in the United States.

Another possible visitor would be Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Benson had planned to make an inspection trip of Soviet agriculture last year, but was prevented from doing so by the press of department business.

Both Nixon and Benson could find ample reason to go to Russia without conferring officially with Communist leaders. Beginning in July the United States will have a large exhibit at the Moscow trade fair.

Margin Loopholes

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—While the Federal Reserve Board has imposed 90 per cent margin requirements for the carrying and buying of stocks, this is easy to get around.

One of the ways is for an investor or speculator to buy convertible bonds and get a loan from a bank. The bank will lend at par, and where the bond is selling at a premium of $15 to $20 above $100 par, that is the margin.

On the bond selling at $115, the margin is only 13 per cent. On the bond quoted at $120, the margin is only 17 per cent.

This is a lot different from the 90 per cent requirement on carrying stock. If the 90 per cent requirements held for convertible bonds, the buyer would have to put up $103.50 on the $115 bond and on the $120 bond $108, compared to $15 and $20 respectively under present bond buying credit regulation.

The convertible bond buyer gets an even better break. He can in a brief period convert the bonds into stock and the same credit arrangements carry over to the stocks.

So, by taking advantage of this loophole, the stock buyer by the simple means of acquiring a convertible bond and turning it into stock can get margins as low as 13 or 17 per cent. Some banks will require no more than 10 per cent.

This is one of the reasons for the increasing interest in convertibles. Once when the price reaches the equivalent of the conversion price for stock, the bonds move with the stock market.

Garrett Board Studies Plans For Loch Lynn

Maintenance Work Outlined

OAKLAND—Plans and specifications for the proposed addition to the Loch Lynn School have been received by the Garrett County Board of Education. The plans were drawn up by the Altman and Altman architectural firm of Altoona, Pa.

Plans call for two additional classrooms with full basement to be used as an all-purpose room, inside stairway to basement, small library room and storage room.

Deadline for completion of this project has been tentatively set for October 1, with the possibility that it might be completed by the opening of school in September. Bids are to be opened March 30.

Work on the new general education room for the Center Street School will soon be under way, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent. This project is scheduled for completion by the opening of school in September and is under contract to William A. Shirer.

Work also is to begin soon on the two-room addition for the Yoder School, also scheduled for completion by September 1. Hawkins said over 90 pupils are expected to enroll at Yoder in September, and the additional rooms are necessary to take care of the increasing enrollment.

Yoder will be a three-teacher school next year and the need for the fourth teacher is anticipated within the next few years.

Yoder School patrons will provide labor for this project and materials are not expected to cost in excess of $10,000 to $12,000. Hawkins explained that money for this project was received from the state incentive fund for school construction.

Plans also call for numerous improvements to be made by the maintenance department during the summer.

Projects listed include a closed corridor between shop building and main building at Northern; storage room for shops at Northern; improvements to music rooms at Northern, elevated platforms, acoustical treatment; painting and repairs at Accident; ramp for ashes removal at Friendsville; painting exterior and interior at Loch Lynn; painting exterior and interior at Swanton; painting exterior of annex building; improvements to Center Street cafeteria; painting and minor repairs at several other schools.

W.Va. Chamber Of Commerce Praises Work Of 1959 State Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Chamber of Commerce believes the recently-completed session of the Legislature was "perhaps the best of the past 15 years."

In a report to members, the chamber said "a score of praiseworthy bills were passed, several bad bills were beaten, and comparatively few, perhaps only two or three inequitable and undesirable proposals were adopted during the 60 days."

"Among the enactments deserving an 'A' rating is the 1959-60 Budget Bill which provides additional sorely needed funds for higher education, hospitals, conservation and other dependent state functions, including a richly-deserved raise for the State Police and a big boost for the ongoing property reappraisal program.

"Rated equally high are the several bills which selectively increase charges for highway users and impose registration fees at state colleges and the University," it said.

'Long Over-Due'

"The anti-littering and junkyard bills really deserve 'AAA' rating and the forward-looking measures creating an Economic Development Agency and authorizing formation of industrial development corporations are long over-due."

The chamber said one veteran observer was credited with saying that no other Legislature in the past 15 years "contributed so much not to the cause of good state government." The report said "the evidence conclusively supports this judgment."

The chamber also praised the lawmakers for refusing to approve substantial increases in state aid to schools and rejecting almost completely "the demands of 'Labor' for ridiculous, out-of-line increases in the benefit provisions of the existing compensation acts."

Reached Limit

Rated as the "greatest disappointment of the session" was the House's refusal to go along with a Senate-adopted resolution calling for a $170,000,000 road bond amendment to the constitution.

The chamber said highway user taxes have reached their virtual limit, and use of bonds is required "or the state will drop far behind the road pace of its neighbors during the next 10 years."

The report estimated that the gross sales tax increase approved on the last day of the regular session will boost revenue from that source by $2,796,770.

"The business of contracting, for reasons known only to those involved in the last-minute inside manipulations, will supply 56 per cent of the total to be derived" from the bill and a companion measure, it said.

Col. Beauregard Cornpone To Be Guest At Festival

MEYERSDALE—Colonel Beauregard J. (for julep) Cornpone, the well known southern Confederate Colonel now living with Pittsburgh's yankee citizenry, will come to Meyersdale on Sunday, April 5 to act as master of ceremonies at the coronation of Queen Maple XII.

Col. Cornpone's appearance will be one of the highlights of the final day's program of the annual Somerset County Maple Festival to be held in Meyersdale April 3, 4 and 5.

Col. Cornpone will preside at the colorful coronation spectacle in front of New Colonial Hotel on Main Street, at which time Miss Errolene Haupt of Forbes Joint High School, Kantner, Pa., will be crowned officially as Queen Maple XII.

In real life, Col. Cornpone is Karl Hardman, a regular member of Cordic and Company, who entertains along with Rege Cordic and Bob Trow on KDKA every morning except Sunday from 6 to 10 a. m.

The Forbes High School band will play a concert preceding the coronation ceremony at the podium at New Colonial Hotel. The concert will begin at 2 p. m.

The invocation for the coronation will be given by Rev. Dr. E. Wilson Kelley, pastor of Meyersdale Methodist Church at about 2:26 p. m.

Welcome will be extended to the visitors by Col. George L. Foy, representing the Meyersdale Chamber of Commerce, and C. J. Reich, representing the Meyersdale Borough Council. Remarks will be made by Herman E. Basehore, who served as general chairman from 1954 through 1958.

Queen Maple XI, Miss Eileen LaBute of Berlin-Brothersvalley Joint High School, and Miss Sue Hershberger, Maryland State Farm Queen, Grantsville, Md., will be introduced.

At 2:30 p. m. the gun salute will herald the start of the coronation procession from the Loyal Order of Moose Home on Main Street to the podium. In the line of march will be a color guard, Queen Errolene Haupt, her two Maids of Honor and seven Princesses, their escorts, and the flower girls and other children who participate.

Following the arrival of the procession at the podium, Miss Haupt will be crowned officially as the 1959 Pennsylvania Maple Queen. Presentation of many gifts to the Queen will follow the coronation.

The 1959 Maple King, winner of the annual maple products contest will be announced and will be presented the Rotary trophy by Charles A. Darrah, president of the local club.

Benediction by Rev. Charles E. Staub, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, will close the ceremonies.

Purchase Building

Dennison has operated a studio on the first floor of the building for several months and Dr. DeMarino plans to move from his present location at 124 West Fairview Street, to the newly purchased building.

W.Va. Chamber Of Commerce Praises Work Of 1959 State Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Chamber of Commerce believes the recently-completed session of the Legislature was "perhaps the best of the past 15 years."

In a report to members, the chamber said "a score of praiseworthy bills were passed, several bad bills were beaten, and comparatively few, perhaps only two or three inequitable and undesirable proposals were adopted during the 60 days."

"Among the enactments deserving an 'A' rating is the 1959-60 Budget Bill which provides additional sorely needed funds for higher education, hospitals, conservation and other dependent state functions, including a richly-deserved raise for the State Police and a big boost for the ongoing property reappraisal program.

"Rated equally high are the several bills which selectively increase charges for highway users and impose registration fees at state colleges and the University," it said.

'Long Over-Due'

"The anti-littering and junk yard bills really deserve 'AAA' rating and the forward-looking measures creating an Economic Development Agency and authorizing formation of industrial development corporations are long over-due."

The chamber said one veteran observer was credited with saying that no other Legislature in the past 15 years "contributed so much not to the cause of good state government." The report said "the evidence conclusively supports this judgment."

The chamber also praised the lawmakers for refusing to approve substantial increases in state aid to schools and rejecting almost completely "the demands of 'Labor' for ridiculous, out-of-line increases in the benefit provisions of the existing compensation acts."

Reached Limit

Rated as the "greatest disappointment of the session" was the House's refusal to go along with a Senate-adopted resolution calling for a $170,000,000 road bond amendment to the constitution.

The chamber said highway user taxes have reached their virtual limit, and use of bonds is required "or the state will drop far behind the road pace of its neighbors during the next 10 years."

The report estimated that the gross sales tax increase approved on the last day of the regular session will boost revenue from that source by $2,796,770.

"The business of contracting, for reasons known only to those involved in the last -minute inside manipulations, will supply 56 per cent of the total to be derived" from the bill and a companion measure, it said.

School Board President Shoots Self

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Harry G. Kennedy, president of the Kanawha County Board of Education and executive secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators Assn., killed himself Wednesday in the den of his home in the fashionable Loudon Heights section.

Kanawha County Coroner Goff P. Lilly said Kennedy shot himself in the head with a 20-guage shotgun. Kennedy, ill for some time, had been hospitalized for hypertension about six months ago.

The body was found by Kennedy's wife, Mrs. Carmen Kennedy, Lilly said. The shooting occurred about 6:30 a. m.

A graduate of the West Virginia University School of Mining Engineering, Kennedy became president of the school board last Jan. 1. He had been a member of the board since 1952 when he was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Charles P. McCabe Sr. He later was elected board member.

Kennedy, long active in the coal industry, became executive secretary of the association in 1925, succeeding his father, Duncan Kennedy.

He also was a member of the board of directors of the National Society of Professional Engineers of which he formerly was a vice president. At one time he served as president of the West Virginia Society of Professional Engineers.

Other survivors besides Mrs. Kennedy include one son, Harry Jr., a University of Richmond medical student, and a daughter, Kathleen, 12.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — One of the commentators stated that the only section not worried about the Khrushchev deadline May 27 is West Berlin! Nightclubs are flourishing and business is good there, but the only slowdown is the refusal of the West Berlin banks to finance any motion pictures.

Plans are going ahead however for the Mario Lanza picture, "Granada," which is to be financed with German money. Chuck Connors, in the first ten with his "Rifleman" TV series, and popular motion picture actor, has been offered the co-starring role of the newspaperman with Lanza. Connors is withholding his decision until he is sure of the conditions. He gets two months off from "Rifleman," and he would make the picture at that time.

The producer is Artur Brauner of Germany's C.C.C. Company.

Wearing a hat as big as a bushel basket, Leslie Caron had luncheon with Arthur Freed to discuss a project that interests Arthur. He wants Leslie to star in "Strategy of Love," a story he thinks is just meant for her.

Leslie has expressed her interest, and when MGM gets around to making the picture, Leslie "Gigi" Caron will be the first one signed. She's really had very good luck with every picture she's made with Arthur, and "Gigi" is one of the most charming pictures of any time.

That good-looking young actor Tony Randall, who's made quite a dent in the motion picture business, is now going into the production end. He and Abby Greshler have formed the R & G Company, and they plan to make two pictures.

The first is "Mr. Beasley's Crying Wave" and will be started early in July. Tony is now in "Any Way the Wind Blows" with Doris Day and Rock Hudson. He's quite a guy with the fans since "The Mating Game" with Debbie Reynolds.

Spent a very pleasant afternoon and early evening with Martha Hyer at her hilltop home. She'll soon rival Edward G. Robinson in her collection of beautiful paints, Columbian heads, and relics from Africa, Germany and the Orient she has collected.

Martha can't make up her mind whether to accept an interesting offer she's received in Hollywood or make a picture in Europe. She thinks the role in Hollywood is stronger, but she loves to travel and would like to spend some time abroad again. And she hopes nothing will interfere with her going to the Cannes Film Festival in May.

Pretty Carol Costello, 21-year-old daughter of the late Lou Costello who was in New York studying acting and modeling at the time of her father's death, has decided to stay here with her mother.

Carol will resume her career in Hollywood. She also has a singing voice, and had gone to New York because she wanted to make it on her own. The Costellos are going ahead with plans to move into the new home Lou had built for them before his death.

An amusing note with a Paris dateline from Edouard Cournand, head of Lanvin perfumes.

He said he saw the latest French experiment with a scent track similar to the Todd Smell-O-Vision process. The picture was an old Brigitte Bardot movie and the scent track got out of "sync" with the craziest results. In a romantic close-up, the audience was assaulted with the odor of cooking cabbage. In a scene showing the hero having his gas tank filled, perfume wafted from the blowers. Later on when Brigitte was shown in her boudoir spraying herself with perfume, the smell of gasoline filled the nostrils. It broke up the audience, Mr. Cournand reports.

FSTC Buildings Included In Tawes' Budget

Supplemental Funds Asked

FROSTBURG—Gov. J. Millard Tawes' supplemental budget presented to the finance committees of the House and Senate Tuesday includes $250,000 to complete two Frostburg State Teachers College buildings as they were originally designed.

The sum proposed by the governor will allow the construction of the dining hall-student activities building as originally designed by the architect, R. Bowen Hardesty, president, said.

The college board of trustees turned down a proposal to put a flat roof on the building when the State Board of Public Works moved to trim costs to meet the bid price.

An arched roof had been designed to fit in with the style of the other buildings on the campus. The trustees acted to postpone the construction until enough money could be obtained to put the arched-type roof on.

The remainder of the money in the quarter-million dollar lump for FSTC will also put back three rooms on the laboratory school now under construction.

These three rooms were cut off to start work on the building with the amount of money available at the time last year.

New bids will have to be asked on the two projects, Hardesty pointed out. The original low bid on the dining hall-student union building was around $590,000.

Gov. Tawes additional spending proposals will boost his general fund budget by $4,594,209 and add $672,850 to the capital improvement program.

The finance committees of the House and Senate are scheduled to report the spending program to the floor by this weekend. His state operating budget totaled nearly 448 million dollars before Monday's additions.

School Board President Shoots Self

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Harry G. Kennedy, president of the Kanawha County Board of Education and executive secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators Assn., killed himself Wednesday in the den of his home in the fashionable Loudon Heights section.

Kanawha County Coroner Goff P. Lilly said Kennedy shot himself in the head with a 20-guage shotgun. Kennedy, ill for some time, had been hospitalized for hypertension about six months ago.

The body was found by Kennedy's wife, Mrs. Carmen Kennedy, Lilly said. The shooting occurred about 6:30 a. m.

A graduate of the West Virginia University School of Mining Engineering, Kennedy became president of the school board last Jan. 1. He had been a member of the board since 1952 when he was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Charles P. McCabe Sr. He later was elected board member.

Kennedy, long active in the coal industry, became executive secretary of the association in 1925, succeeding his father, Duncan Kennedy.

He also was a member of the board of directors of the National Society of Professional Engineers of which he formerly was a vice president. At one time he served as president of the West Virginia Society of Professional Engineers.

Other survivors besides Mrs. Kennedy include one son, Harry Jr., a University of Richmond medical student, and a daughter, Kathleen, 12.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — One of the commentators stated that the only section not worried about the Khrushchev deadline May 27 is West Berlin! Nightclubs are flourishing and business is good there, but the only slowdown is the refusal of the West Berlin banks to finance any motion pictures.

Plans are going ahead however, for the Mario Lanza picture, "Granada," which is to be financed with German money. Chuck Connors, in the first ten with his "Rifleman" TV series, and popular motion picture actor, has been offered the co-starring role of the newspaperman with Lanza. Connors is withholding his decision until he is sure of the conditions. He gets two months off from "Rifleman," and he would make the picture at that time.

The producer is Artur Brauner of Germany's C.C.C. Company.

Wearing a hat as big as a bushel basket, Leslie Caron had luncheon with Arthur Freed to discuss a project that interests Arthur. He wants Leslie to star in "Strategy of Love," a story he thinks is just meant for her.

Leslie has expressed her interest, and when MGM gets around to making the picture, Leslie "Gigi" Caron will be the first one signed. She's really had very good luck with every picture she's made with Arthur, and "Gigi" is one of the most charming pictures of any time.

That good-looking young actor Tony Randall, who's made quite a dent in the motion picture business, is now going into the production end. He and Abby Greshler have formed the R & G Company, and they plan to make two pictures.

The first is "Mr. Beasley's Crying Wave" and will be started early in July. Tony is now in "Any Way the Wind Blows" with Doris Day and Rock Hudson. He's quite a guy with the fans since "The Mating Game" with Debbie Reynolds.

Spent a very pleasant afternoon and early evening with Martha Hyer at her hilltop home. She'll soon rival Edward G. Robinson in her collection of beautiful paints, Columbian heads, and relics from Africa, Germany and the Orient she has collected.

Martha can't make up her mind whether to accept an interesting offer she's received in Hollywood or make a picture in Europe. She thinks the role in Hollywood is stronger, but she loves to travel and would like to spend some time abroad again. And she hopes nothing will interfere with her going to the Cannes Film Festival in May.

Pretty Carol Costello, 21-year-old daughter of the late Lou Costello who was in New York studying acting and modeling at the time of her father's death, has decided to stay here with her mother.

Carol will resume her career in Hollywood. She also has a singing voice, and had gone to New York because she wanted to make it on her own. The Costellos are going ahead with plans to move into the new home Lou had built for them before his death.

An amusing note with a Paris dateline from Edouard Cournand, head of Lanvin perfumes.

He said he saw the latest French experiment with a scent track similar to the Todd Smell-O-Vision process. The picture was an old Brigitte Bardot movie and the scent track got out of "sync" with the craziest results. In a romantic close-up, the audience was assaulted with the odor of cooking cabbage. In a scene showing the hero having his gas tank filled, perfume wafted from the blowers. Later on when Brigitte was shown in her boudoir spraying herself with perfume, the smell of gasoline filled the nostrils. It broke up the audience, Mr. Cournand reports.

FSTC Buildings Included In Tawes' Budget

Supplemental Funds Asked

FROSTBURG—Gov. J. Millard Tawes' supplemental budget presented to the finance committees of the House and Senate Tuesday includes $250,000 to complete two Frostburg State Teachers College buildings as they were originally designed.

The sum proposed by the governor will allow the construction of the dining hall-student activities building as originally designed by the architect, R. Bowen Hardesty, president, said.

The college board of trustees turned down a proposal to put a flat roof on the building when the State Board of Public Works moved to trim costs to meet the bid price.

An arched roof had been designed to fit in with the style of the other buildings on the campus. The trustees acted to postpone the construction until enough money could be obtained to put the arched-type roof on.

The remainder of the money in the quarter-million dollar lump for FSTC will also put back three rooms on the laboratory school now under construction.

These three rooms were cut off to start work on the building with the amount of money available at the time last year.

New bids will have to be asked on the two projects, Hardesty pointed out. The original low bid on the dining hall-student union building was around $590,000.

Gov. Tawes additional spending proposals will boost his general fund budget by $4,594,209 and add $672,850 to the capital improvement program.

The finance committees of the House and Senate are scheduled to report the spending program to the floor by this weekend. His state operating budget totaled nearly 448 million dollars before Monday's additions.

Population Declines In West Virginia

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Thirty-seven of West Virginia's 55 counties experienced population declines between 1950 and 1957, although the state's overall loss was less than 29,000, according to a West Virginia University report.

The study by rural sociologist Leonard M. Sizer estimates the state population as of July 1, 1957, at 1,976,556, a drop of 28,996 from the 2,005,552 figure established in the 1950 federal census. The overall decline amounted to 1.45 per cent.

The largest percentage loss was in Tucker County, down 22.98 per cent from 10,600 to 8,164. Other major declines, by percentages, were Barbour, 12.78 per cent; Doddridge, 20.51; Gilmer, 16.39; McDowell, 12.71; Ritchie, 15.29; 15.29; and Summer, 14.22.

Hancock County reported the largest percentage gain, up 20.73 per cent from 34,388 to 41,517. Other big gainers were Berkeley, 8.27 per cent; Brooke, 12.82; Jackson, 9.88; Ohio, 13.65; Pleasants, 11.04; Putnam, 14.51; Wood, 11.52; and Wyoming, 10.35.

Sizer's estimates are based on the 1950 census figures plus natural growth, minus the net migration and losses to the armed forces. Migration is calculated on the basis of the change in school enrollment figures.

Population Declines In West Virginia

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Thirty-seven of West Virginia's 55 counties experienced population declines between 1950 and 1957, although the state's overall loss was less than 29,000, according to a West Virginia University report.

The study by rural sociologist Leonard M. Sizer estimates the state population as of July 1, 1957, at 1,976,556, a drop of 28,996 from the 2,005,552 figure established in the 1950 federal census. The overall decline amounted to 1.45 per cent.

The largest percentage loss was in Tucker County, down 22.98 per cent from 10,600 to 8,164. Other major declines, by percentages, were Barbour, 12.78 per cent; Doddridge, 20.51; Gilmer, 16.39; McDowell, 12.71; Ritchie, 15.29; 15.29; and Summer, 14.22.

Hancock County reported the largest percentage gain, up 20.73 per cent from 34,388 to 41,517. Other big gainers were Berkeley, 8.27 per cent; Brooke, 12.82; Jackson, 9.88; Ohio, 13.65; Pleasants, 11.04; Putnam, 14.51; Wood, 11.52; and Wyoming, 10.35.

Sizer's estimates are based on the 1950 census figures plus natural growth, minus the net migration and losses to the armed forces. Migration is calculated on the basis of the change in school enrollment figures.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The West Virginia Department of Employment Security said Tuesday that non-agricultural employment in the state declined 300 to a total of 452,900 from mid-January to mid-February.

The agency disclosed that manufacturing jobs rose 1,400 from January to 121,300 but still were 200 below the February, 1958 figure. Non-manufacturing employment fell 1,800 from January to 331,600 and was 10,700 under that of a year ago.

A drop of 7,900 in coal industry payrolls from a year ago was registered in February. The department said employment totaled 62,300 in the coal fields.

Those reporting employment hikes over 1958 were wood products, primary and fabricated metals, furniture and fixtures. All others were under last year's figures.

Old Germans, Scaletta's, Lakers, Fairmont Gain 'Y' Finals

Four Games Tonight End 14th Tourney

All-Star Teams To Be Selected; Trophies Awarded

Scaletta's Five and the Fort Ashby Lakers in the Junior Unlimited Class, and the Old Germans and Fairmont State in the Senior Division joined the 115-pound and 135-pound finalists in the Central YMCA-Jaycees Basketball Tournament with triumphs last night on the "Y" court.

Tonight's final round beginning at 6 p.m. will wrap up the 14th annual tourney. Trophies will be awarded and all-tourney teams will be selected at the conclusion of each division's play.

Win Third Straight

The Cumberland Old Germans, unbeaten kings of the City Basketball League, swept to their third consecutive triumph last night to gain the final round. The Old Gees beat an old rival, the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose quintet, 61-40 to enter the last stage of the Senior Division scramble. They will meet Fairmont State, 48-38 victor over Peskin's Shoemen in the other Senior clash at the YMCA last night.

The Old Gees-Moose clash started as if the players were in a grudge battle and the Moose trailed 22-20 at intermission after a rough and tumble first half. However, the game settled down and the Old Gees pulled steadily ahead in the final two periods.

Glen Smith paced the Old Germans attack with 18 points, followed closely by Evers Smith with 17 tallies. The winners also converted 27 of 36 chances at the foul line to enhance their margin. Top gun for the Moose was John Poling with 14 markers while teammate Don Lilya garnered 12.

Lose Three Players

The Moose quint lost George McGregor, Els Lambert and Poling via personals in the last quarter of the game when the Old Germans outscored the losers 22-8 to salt away the victory.

Fairmont State's quintet also racked up its third victory of the tourney by turning back Peskin's in the semi-final clash. The winners hopped off to a 14-7 first period lead and were never headed, clinching the verdict by outscoring the Shoemen, 11-4 in the third stanza.

Gary Shamblen scored 17 points for Fairmont in the final game of the evening last night. High man for Peskin's, was Cook with 10 points.

In the Junior Unlimited opener Scaletta's Five, composed mainly of LaSalle High School cagers, trounced Sander's Gulf, 59-39, to enter the final round where they will meet the Fort Ashby Lakers, 49-36 winners over Potomac Park in the other junior division game last night.

Frisby Scores 18 Points

Gary Frisby, Mike Mackert and Mickey Scaletta poured in 47 points for the winners who led 14-3, 30-17 and 41-26 at the quarters. Von Lehman had 15 points for the Gulfmen.

Manager Donald Kenney's Fort Ashby Lakers, paced by the 23 points scored by Glen Pyles, had little trouble with the Potomac Park Grocery five, leading 10-3, 20-13 and 34-20 at the quarters. Best bet for Potomac Park was Ray Dayton with 15 tallies.

Tonight's schedule:

6:00—Lovers Leap Esso vs. St. Michael's, Frostburg (15 Pound Class).

7:00—Freedy's Five vs. Lovers Leap Esso (135 Pound Class).

9:30—Old Germans vs. Fairmont State (Sr. Unlimited).

BROKE FORT HILL'S WIN STREAK—Here's the Valley High School sextet that brought an end to Fort Hill High School's 53-game winning streak this season. Fort Hill had gone undefeated since 1953 when Valley cracked the six-year victory string on March 4 by the score of 64-41. Valley also snapped Ursuline's two-year winning streak this season. Coach Pauline S. Hamilton's sextet wound up with a 6-2 mark. Fort Hill's 53-game string was the longest on record in this area since the all-time 65-game streak credited to Central High of Lonaconing back in the early 1920s. The Valley squad pictured above, left to right: FIRST ROW — Gladys Morris, Susie Miller, Rita Kirkwood, Mary Lou Duckworth, Sharley Warnick and Gloria Nicol. SECOND ROW — Virginia Clise, Dorothy Robertson, Dorothy Kyle, Judy Lashbaugh, Betty Ann Cook, Donna Johnson and Susan Blank. THIRD ROW—Ruth Fisher, Sandra Robertson, Pauline Miller, Sonya Robertson, Henrietta Lease and Mrs. Pauline S. Hamilton, coach.

Sew Wash Wear Is Discovered Running Fever

Grant Protested Riding On Filly

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Sew Wash Wear was running a fever Wednesday and so were the fans on both sides of the controversy surrounding Bowie's sore horse incident.

Howard Grant, leading rider of the current 44-day meet, agitated the controversy Tuesday when he complained at the post that Sew Wash Wear, his mount in the 4½-furlong third race, was lame.

Veterinarian Frank M. Keller examined the filly, said she looked all right and told Grant to ride her as scheduled. Sew Wash Wear finished 20 lengths behind the field.

Dr. Robert Leonard, head veterinarian for the Maryland Racing Commission, was asked today if he had checked further on Sew Wash Wear.

"No," he replied, "I'll look at her later on if Mr. Flanagan (Commission Steward Joseph F. Flanagan) wants me to do so."

Trainer Charley White, who conditions Sew Wash Wear for Stanley Sagner, said he discovered the filly had a temperature of 104.3 degrees about noon today.

"It is logical to assume she was sick and had the high fever when she raced yesterday," he said. "I told her owners that she didn't look right going to the post. I told them two or three times that I didn't think she'd run a good race.

"She was not lame, but she's a little tender to the touch in her shins today. I think she may have started to buck shins."

The split of unofficial opinion was demonstrated by the positions of the Bond brothers, Bernie and Bowes, who are the leader and runner-up among horse trainers.

"I think the vet should have the final say," said Bernie Bond. "I remember one day in Jersey when I put Bill Hartack on Very Special, a horse who always warmed up slightly sore.

"Hartack tried to get the horse scratched at the gate, but was told to ride and he won the race by 10 lengths. Very Special won six races and was sore all year."

Bowes Bond disagreed with his brother.

"I think the jockey should be given the benefit of any doubt," he said. "Of course, we all know there are horses who warm out of soreness to run good races.

"In the case of such horses, the jockey should discuss the animals' condition with the trainer before accepting the mount."

Washington Mitt Group Asks Middle Title Be Vacated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capital's boxing commission said Wednesday Ray Robinson should be stripped of his middleweight title. Commission Chairman Joseph (Jocko) Miller said Sugar Ray is making mockery of the sport.

The District of Columbia commission recommended that the National Boxing Assn. set up an elimination tournament to find a successor to Robinson among the eight top-ranking contenders as of next May 1.

Miller set forth the proposals in a letter to Arch Hindman, NBA executive secretary.

Robinson has not defended his world championship since winning it one year ago Wednesday. NBA rules provide for a title defense within six months.

Nats Win, 119-107

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The stubborn Syracuse Nationals fought to a 119-17 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night and evened the Eastern Division playoffs in the National Basketball Assn. at two games each.

Stones were used in early cannon and were not replaced by metal shot until the 17th century.

Sliding Bonus Rule Advocated

Wrigley Bases Plan On Player's Success

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago Cub owner Phil Wrigley, the National League's one-man committee to study baseball's present structure, Wednesday proposed a sliding bonus rule, based on speed of success.

Wrigley suggested bonus payments should range from $25,000 to $100,000, depending upon how long it takes a player to make the big leagues.

A player would be paid $100,000 if he reaches the majors in his first year, regardless of whether he emerges from high school, college, American Legion or minor league ranks.

"If it takes a player two years to attain the big leagues," Wrigley said, "his bonus would be $75,000. Three-year players would draw $50,000 and after four years, it would be $25,000."

British Mitt Board Refuses London Permit

Brian Still Plans To Meet Patterson

By JOHN FARROW

LONDON (AP) — Britain's boxing officials Wednesday refused Brian London a permit to fight Floyd Patterson but the burly Briton insisted he was going to fight for the world heavyweight title anyway.

"I'd be daft to turn it down," said the former British heavyweight champion. He has been guaranteed $75,000—more than he has made in his entire career—to tangle with Patterson, the world champion, at Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

At a special meeting here, the British Board of Boxing Control declined to issue a permit to London, declaring it was not in the best interest of the sport for him to fight Patterson. British bookmakers have made Patterson a 10-1 favorite.

But the president of the U.S. National Boxing Assn. indicated approval of the fight.

"The NBA will recognize any logical contender," Dr. Ward Wylie, NBA president, told The Associated Press Wednesday.

Dr. Wylie, vacationing here from his home in Mullins, W. Va., declined further comment.

At Las Vegas, where the officials said they are still very much in the dark about the proposed fight, two Nevada commissioners—James Deskin and Jack Doyle—issued this statement:

"Unless we get a request from the BBBC, giving a good reason for the ban and a transcript of the hearing at which he was banned, we would let him fight."

To add to the confusion, it appears the fight date also is up in the air. Beldon Kattleman, a hotel executive in Las Vegas, disclosed he received a wire Tuesday from promoter Cecil Rhodes, asking about Friday, May 1 date. It turned out the date already has been booked for Las Vegas' new Convention Hall.

West's Cagers Win All-Star Game, 80-68

Hawkins Is Named Outstanding Player

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—The rebounding and the early scoring of Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame sent the Western college senior all-stars out to an early lead and tided them over some rough middle going Wednesday night as they scored a 80-68 victory over a team of Eastern stars.

Hawkins, voted the most valuable Western player, dunked 18 points and in the early going, cleared the boards above the rim.

Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State sparked a late first-half Eastern spurt and won the most valuable award on the East squad.

Hank Iba's Westerners threatened early to make a shambles of the game as they jumped off to a 20-point spread with only 10 minutes gone. All-American Bob Boozer of Kansas State teamed with Hawkins for most of the early fireworks.

A crowd of 6,700 in the modern university of Maryland field house settled back for what seemed like a rout.

But just as the gap began to look unbeatable, the two smallest men in the game turned the tide. Pucillo sparked a new-found fast break with brilliant passing and five-foot, 11-inch Alan Seiden of St. John's shoved in three driving shots and the halftime gap narrowed to 11 points.

The East closed to within four points with five minutes gone in the second half but a looping, 15-foot hook by Bob Ferry of St. Louis U. spurred the Westerners to an eight-point splurge.

All-American Bailey Howell of Mississippi State was top eastern scorer with 11 points.

Moore, Durelle Rematch Set

Bout To Be Held In Montreal July 15

MONTREAL (AP)—Veteran titleholder Archie Moore and Yvon Durelle, the rugged French Canadian, Wednesday agreed to a rematch of their exciting world light heavyweight championship bout.

The match will be held July 15 in the Montreal ball park.

The announcement was made by Eddie Quinn, a Montreal promoter who staged their first fight in the Montreal Forum last Dec. 10. In that one, Moore was floored four times and then rallied to stop Durelle in the 11th round.

There was no immediate indication whether the bout would be televised. Home TV is believed likely because the match was scheduled for a Wednesday night when weekly boxing bouts are telecast by ABC.

For his sensational victory over Durelle, Moore received the Edward J. Neil Award as fighter of the year and was named the boxer of the year by the National Boxing Assn.

Old Germans, Scaletta's, Lakers, Fairmont Gain 'Y' Finals

Four Games Tonight End 14th Tourney

All-Star Teams To Be Selected; Trophies Awarded

Scaletta's Five and the Fort Ashby Lakers in the Junior Unlimited Class, and the Old Germans and Fairmont State in the Senior Division joined the 115-pound and 135-pound finalists in the Central YMCA-Jaycees Basketball Tournament with triumphs last night on the "Y" court.

Tonight's final round beginning at 6 p.m. will wrap up the 14th annual tourney. Trophies will be awarded and all-tourney teams will be selected at the conclusion of each division's play.

Win Third Straight

The Cumberland Old Germans, unbeaten kings of the City Basketball League, swept to their third consecutive triumph last night to gain the final round. The Old Gees beat an old rival, the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose quintet, 61-40 to enter the last stage of the Senior Division scramble. They will meet Fairmont State, 48-38 victor over Peskin's Shoemen in the other Senior clash at the YMCA last night.

The Old Gees-Moose clash started as if the players were in a grudge battle and the Moose trailed 22-20 at intermission after a rough and tumble first half. However, the game settled down and the Old Gees pulled steadily ahead in the final two periods.

Glen Smith paced the Old Germans attack with 18 points, followed closely by Evers Smith with 17 tallies. The winners also converted 27 of 36 chances at the foul line to enhance their margin. Top gun for the Moose was John Poling with 14 markers while teammate Don Lilya garnered 12.

Lose Three Players

The Moose quint lost George McGregor, Els Lambert and Poling via personals in the last quarter of the game when the Old Germans outscored the losers 22-8 to salt away the victory.

Fairmont State's quintet also racked up its third victory of the tourney by turning back Peskin's in the semi-final clash. The winners hopped off to a 14-7 first period lead and were never headed, clinching the verdict by outscoring the Shoemen, 11-4 in the third stanza.

Gary Shamblen scored 17 points for Fairmont in the final game of the evening last night. High man for Peskin's, was Cook with 10 points.

In the Junior Unlimited opener Scaletta's Five, composed mainly of LaSalle High School cagers, trounced Sander's Gulf, 59-39, to enter the final round where they will meet the Fort Ashby Lakers, 49-36 winners over Potomac Park in the other junior division game last night.

Frisby Scores 18 Points

Gary Frisby, Mike Mackert and Mickey Scaletta poured in 47 points for the winners who led 14-3, 30-17 and 41-26 at the quarters. Von Lehman had 15 points for the Gulfmen.

Manager Donald Kenney's Fort Ashby Lakers, paced by the 23 points scored by Glen Pyles, had little trouble with the Potomac Park Grocery five, leading 10-3, 20-13 and 34-20 at the quarters. Best bet for Potomac Park was Ray Dayton with 15 tallies.

Tonight's schedule:

6:00—Lovers Leap Esso vs. St. Michael's, Frostburg (15 Pound Class).

7:00—Freedy's Five vs. Lovers Leap Esso (135 Pound Class).

8:15—Scaletta's Five vs. Fort Ashby Lakers (Jr. Unlimited).

9:30—Old Germans vs. Fairmont State (Sr. Unlimited).

Sew Wash Wear Is Discovered Running Fever

Grant Protested Riding On Filly

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Sew Wash Wear was running a fever Wednesday and so were the fans on both sides of the controversy surrounding Bowie's sore horse incident.

Howard Grant, leading rider of the current 44-day meet, agitated the controversy Tuesday when he complained at the post that Sew Wash Wear, his mount in the 4½-furlong third race, was lame.

Veterinarian Frank M. Keller examined the filly, said she looked all right and told Grant to ride her as scheduled. Sew Wash Wear finished 20 lengths behind the field.

Dr. Robert Leonard, head veterinarian for the Maryland Racing Commission, was asked today if he had checked further on Sew Wash Wear.

"No," he replied, "I'll look at her later on if Mr. Flanagan (Commission Steward Joseph F. Flanagan) wants me to do so."

Trainer Charley White, who conditions Sew Wash Wear for Stanley Sagner, said he discovered the filly had a temperature of 104.3 degrees about noon today.

"It is logical to assume she was sick and had the high fever when she raced yesterday," he said. "I told her owners that she didn't look right going to the post. I told them two or three times that I didn't think she'd run a good race.

"She was not lame, but she's a little tender to the touch in her shins today. I think she may have started to buck shins."

The split of unofficial opinion was demonstrated by the positions of the Bond brothers, Bernie and Bowes, who are the leader and runner-up among horse trainers.

"I think the vet should have the final say," said Bernie Bond. "I remember one day in Jersey when I put Bill Hartack on Very Special, a horse who always warmed up slightly sore.

"Hartack tried to get the horse scratched at the gate, but was told to ride and he won the race by 10 lengths. Very Special won six races and was sore all year."

Bowes Bond disagreed with his brother.

"I think the jockey should be given the benefit of any doubt," he said. "Of course, we all know there are horses who warm out of soreness to run good races.

Washington Mitt Group Asks Middle Title Be Vacated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capital's boxing commission said Wednesday Ray Robinson should be stripped of his middleweight title. Commission Chairman Joseph (Jocko) Miller said Sugar Ray is making mockery of the sport.

The District of Columbia commission recommended that the National Boxing Assn. set up an elimination tournament to find a successor to Robinson among the eight top-ranking contenders as of next May 1.

Miller set forth the proposals in a letter to Arch Hindman, NBA executive secretary.

Robinson has not defended his world championship since winning it one year ago Wednesday. NBA rules provide for a title defense within six months.

Sliding Bonus Rule Advocated

Wrigley Bases Plan On Player's Success

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago Cub owner Phil Wrigley, the National League's one-man committee to study baseball's present structure, Wednesday proposed a sliding bonus rule, based on speed of success.

Wrigley suggested bonus payments should range from $25,000 to $100,000, depending upon how long it takes a player to make the big leagues.

A player would be paid $100,000 if he reaches the majors in his first year, regardless of whether he emerges from high school, college, American Legion or minor league ranks.

"If it takes a player two years to attain the big leagues," Wrigley said, "his bonus would be $75,000. Three-year players would draw $50,000 and after four years, it would be $25,000."

British Mitt Board Refuses London Permit

Brian Still Plans To Meet Patterson

By JOHN FARROW

LONDON (AP) — Britain's boxing officials Wednesday refused Brian London a permit to fight Floyd Patterson but the burly Briton insisted he was going to fight for the world heavyweight title anyway.

"I'd be daft to turn it down," said the former British heavyweight champion. He has been guaranteed $75,000—more than he has made in his entire career—to tangle with Patterson, the world champion, at Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

At a special meeting here, the British Board of Boxing Control declined to issue a permit to London, declaring it was not in the best interest of the sport for him to fight Patterson. British bookmakers have made Patterson a 10-1 favorite.

But the president of the U.S. National Boxing Assn. indicated approval of the fight.

"The NBA will recognize any logical contender," Dr. Ward Wylie, NBA president, told The Associated Press Wednesday.

Dr. Wylie, vacationing here from his home in Mullins, W. Va., declined further comment.

At Las Vegas, where the officials said they are still very much in the dark about the proposed fight, two Nevada commissioners—James Deskin and Jack Doyle—issued this statement:

"Unless we get a request from the BBBC, giving a good reason for the ban and a transcript of the hearing at which he was banned, we would let him fight."

Cards Swap Jones To Giants For White And Jablonski

Frisco Gets Whiff King, Don Choate

Sam Is Expected To Strengthen Bill Rigney Mound Corps

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals gave up right-handed pitcher Sam Jones and obtained first baseman-outfielder Bill White and third baseman Ray Jablonski from San Francisco Wednesday in a trade that seemingly made the Giants a stronger National League pennant contender.

Don Choate, a right-handed pitcher on the roster of the Cards' Omaha farm team, was sent to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, a Giants' affiliate, as part of the straight player transaction.

4th Starting Hurler

The acquisition of Jones, 34, ended San Francisco's search for a fourth starting pitcher. Jones was the leading winner on the St. Louis staff last year. He had a 14-13 record and led the league in strikeouts with 225. His earned run average was 2.88.

White, 25, a strong left-handed batter, hit .241 in 29 games in 1958 after returning from the Army. He walloped 22 homers and batted .256 as the Giants' regular first baseman in 1956.

In Phoenix, where the Giants are preparing for the 1959 campaign, Manager Bill Rigney called the deal the most important for his club since pitcher Johnny Antonelli was acquired from the Milwaukee Braves in 1954.

"This makes our front-line pitching solid and our second line deeper," Rigney said. "We now have six pitchers with sound arms."

Ray Rejoins Cards

Jablonski, 33, batted .230 in 86 games in 1958. His reputation is that of a long ball hitter, but a poor infielder. He returns to St. Louis where he enjoyed productive seasons in 1953 and 1954, batting in more than 100 runs each year.

Choate, 20, was 12-11 last season. He won seven games and lost seven with Omaha of the American Assn. and was 5-4 with Houston in the Texas League.

The Giants, who finished third in 1958, were not expected to make liberal use of White or Jablonski. White has little chance of supplanting Orlando Cepeda, the slugging Puerto Rican first baseman who won the circuit's rookie-of-the-year award. Jablonski lost his third base job to Jim Davenport, another rookie, last season.

Hoffman Charged In Tax Evasion

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service Wednesday charged Bob Hoffman U.S. Olympic weight-lifting coach from York Pa., with failing to pay $274,569 on his income tax returns of 1948 through 1950.

Hoffman, a former national champion, coached America's first Olympic weight-lifting team in 1932, and has directed all since.

He has filed a denial with the service. He contends the service mistakenly disallowed him legitimate expenses.

10 Probable Starters For Campbell Race

Purse For Bowie Event Is $116,300

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — The field for the $100,000-added John B. Campbell at Bowie Saturday was hiked to 10 probable starters Wednesday with the arrival of Talent Show from the sunny south.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's horse was shipped up from Hialeah Park, arriving at nearby Laurel. He will be vanned over Friday for a blowout for the big mile and a sixteenth.

With 10 starting, the purse will be a record $116,300, with $74,595 to the winner.

The strong favorite is the Maryland-bred Vertex, who came out of his Gulfstream Park Handicap victory last Saturday "better than ever," his handlers said. His training here this week has been confined to galloping.

Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy and Boncrist Stable's Backbone, both highly rated, had hard workouts this morning. Both went five furlongs.

Oligarchy sped the distance in 58 2-5 seconds. A short time later his trainer, Elliott Burch, still in Florida, said he was pleased with the workout but didn't like the time. He thought it was too fast.

Backbone went over the same distance in 59 1-5, easing to a gallop during the last furlong.

Frostburg To Field Grid Team

Bobcats Hope To Open 1960 Season

FROSTBURG, Md. (AP)—Frostburg State Teachers College announced Wednesday it will begin playing football in the fall of 1960 if the State Board of Education approves.

College President R. Bowen Hardesty said the decision was reached after a secret ballot of the student body. Of more than 700 enrolled in the four-year college, 330 are men.

Frostburg will be the first of Maryland's five teachers colleges to field a football team. The Bobcats already play basketball, baseball, soccer, track and tennis.

Saturday afternoon and night and home games are planned. Arrangements have been completed with the Allegany County Board of Education for use of Beall High School's stadium.

Hardesty said Frostburg would begin looking for a head coach if the board approves the move and he hopes to have him on the payroll by next September to teach physical education and work out details of the football season. Tentatively, scrimmage will begin Aug. 16, 1960.

Nothing has been done as yet on a schedule. The college maintenance department will prepare a temporary practice field behind Compton Hall.

Hardesty expressed the opinion last fall that football would help enrollment at Frostburg. He said Wednesday there would be no scholarships for football since other varsity sports have none. He also emphasized there would be no aid for game equipment or operational expenses.

Rookie Catcher Takes Giant Step This Year

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Cntral Press Sports Editor

PHOENIX, Ariz.—No rookie in recent years comes to the big time with better calling cards than does Al Stieglitz, backstop hopeful with the New York Giants.

The husky receiver, who's had just four years of minor league experience, is the son of a minor league pitcher, grandson of a one-time pitcher with the Cincinnati Reds and was the subject of a nation-wide television show, "The Life of a Rookie," which graced the small screens in 1954.

If that isn't enough, Al twice hit over .300 in the minors, and came to the parent club this year after having a .296 season at Corpus Christi.

Additionally, Al added to his own major league buildup when he was in the service and was the regular catcher for Johnny Podres, the Dodgers' No. 1 pitcher.

A native of Columbia, S. C., Al played sandlot baseball around town and, before entering high school, he became a resident of the Epworth Children's Home—for the simple reason that most of his friends lived there.

While at the Home he attended Dreher High where he played all sports and excelled as an end in footabll. His football play won him a scholarship to the University of Georgia and he put in one full year of study.

His ability on the baseball field, however, attracted the attention of the scouts and by February of 1953 eleven clubs were after him. Al decided to go with the Giants, accepting $175 a month pay although he could have received sizable bonuses from other clubs.

Al Stieglitz

The Giants sent him to Pauls Valley, Okla., and the first time up with that team he belted a home run. He hit .319 that year and then was moved to Danville, where he was selected as the minor league rookie to be featured on the Omnibus television show.

The next season, 1955, he played for Johnstown, Pa., hitting .314, and then was called by Uncle Sam. After two years in the service he went to Corpus Christi and his good season there last year gave him his chance this year.

Hawks Seek 3rd Playoff Victory

Hagan And Pettit Pace Champs

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—The St. Louis Hawks will be after win No. 3 in their best-of-seven NBA Western Division play-off series with the Minneapolis Lakers here Thursday night.

They hope to break the home-court jinx that has marked the first three games of the series. St. Louis won games numbers one and three at home by scores of 124-90 and 127-97. The Lakers won the second game here, 106-98.

"Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit together are killing us," Laker Coach John Kundla said Wednesday. "When both of them are hitting the Hawks are really tough".

St. Louis has held the Laker offense to an average of about 98 points a game. Rookie-of-the-year Elgin Baylor has been limited to 69 points, 33 of them in one game. Laker front-court men Vern Mikkelsen, Larry Foust and Jim Krebs have not been too effective so Kundla has had to depend on a long-range attack that was only average during the season.

Minnesota Cage Coach Resigns

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ozzie Cowles, University of Minnesota basketball coach for 11 years, resigned Tuesday.

Cowles issued a statement saying he was resigning immediately, but gave no indication of future plans. He has several business interests in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Athletic Director Ike Armstrong said he would begin screening applicants soon and expects to have a recommendation ready by April 10.

Among those with whom he plans to confer, Armstrong said, is Coach Johnny Kundla of the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Assn.

The Gophers finished ninth in the Big Ten with a 5-9 record the past season. At Minneota Cowles compiled a record of 148 victories and 93 defeats.

The Giants, who finished third in 1958, were not expected to make liberal use of White or Jablonski. White has little chance of supplanting Orlando Cepeda, the slugging Puerto Rican first baseman who won the circuit's rookie-of-the-year award. Jablonski lost his third base job to Jim Davenport, another rookie, last season.

Hawks Seek 3rd Playoff Victory

Hagan And Pettit Pace Champs

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—The St. Louis Hawks will be after win No. 3 in their best-of-seven NBA Western Division play-off series with the Minneapolis Lakers here Thursday night.

They hope to break the home-court jinx that has marked the first three games of the series. St. Louis won games numbers one and three at home by scores of 124-90 and 127-97. The Lakers won the second game here, 106-98.

"Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit together are killing us," Laker Coach John Kundla said Wednesday. "When both of them are hitting the Hawks are really tough".

Hagan and Pettit have tallied a total of 192 points for the defending NBA champions in the first three games.

St. Louis has held the Laker offense to an average of about 98 points a game. Rookie-of-the-year Elgin Baylor has been limited to 69 points, 33 of them in one game. Laker front-court men Vern Mikkelsen, Larry Foust and Jim Krebs have not been too effective so Kundla has had to depend on a long-range attack that was only average during the season.

Minnesota Cage Coach Resigns

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ozzie Cowles, University of Minnesota basketball coach for 11 years, resigned Tuesday.

Cowles issued a statement saying he was resigning immediately, but gave no indication of future plans. He has several business interests in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Athletic Director Ike Armstrong said he would begin screening applicants soon and expects to have a recommendation ready by April 10.

Among those with whom he plans to confer, Armstrong said, is Coach Johnny Kundla of the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Assn.

The Gophers finished ninth in the Big Ten with a 5-9 record the past season. At Minneota Cowles compiled a record of 148 victories and 93 defeats.

10 Probable Starters For Campbell Race

Purse For Bowie Event Is $116,300

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — The field for the $100,000-added John B. Campbell at Bowie Saturday was hiked to 10 probable starters Wednesday with the arrival of Talent Show from the sunny south.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's horse was shipped up from Hialeah Park, arriving at nearby Laurel. He will be vanned over Friday for a blowout for the big mile and a sixteenth.

With 10 starting, the purse will be a record $116,300, with $74,595 to the winner.

The strong favorite is the Maryland-bred Vertex, who came out of his Gulfstream Park Handicap victory last Saturday "better than ever," his handlers said. His training here this week has been confined to galloping.

Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy and Boncrist Stable's Backbone, both highly rated, had hard workouts this morning. Both went five furlongs.

Oligarchy sped the distance in 58 2-5 seconds. A short time later his trainer, Elliott Burch, still in Florida, said he was pleased with the workout but didn't like the time. He thought it was too fast.

Hoffman Charged In Tax Evasion

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service Wednesday charged Bob Hoffman U.S. Olympic weight-lifting coach from York Pa., with failing to pay $274,569 on his income tax returns of 1948 through 1950.

Hoffman, a former national champion, coached America's first Olympic weight-lifting team in 1932, and has directed all since.

He has filed a denial with the service. He contends the service mistakenly disallowed him legitimate expenses.

Rookie Catcher Takes Giant Step This Year

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Cntral Press Sports Editor

PHOENIX, Ariz.—No rookie in recent years comes to the big time with better calling cards than does Al Stieglitz, backstop hopeful with the New York Giants.

The husky receiver, who's had just four years of minor league experience, is the son of a minor league pitcher, grandson of a one-time pitcher with the Cincinnati Reds and was the subject of a nation-wide television show, "The Life of a Rookie," which graced the small screens in 1954.

If that isn't enough, Al twice hit over .300 in the minors, and came to the parent club this year after having a .296 season at Corpus Christi.

Additionally, Al added to his own major league buildup when he was in the service and was the regular catcher for Johnny Podres, the Dodgers' No. 1 pitcher.

A native of Columbia, S. C., Al played sandlot baseball around town and, before entering high school, he became a resident of the Epworth Children's Home—for the simple reason that most of his friends lived there.

While at the Home he attended Dreher High where he played all sports and excelled as an end in footabll. His football play won him a scholarship to the University of Georgia and he put in one full year of study.

His ability on the baseball field, however, attracted the attention of the scouts and by February of 1953 eleven clubs were after him. Al decided to go with the Giants, accepting $175 a month pay although he could have received sizable bonuses from other clubs.

Al Stieglitz

The Giants sent him to Pauls Valley, Okla., and the first time up with that team he belted a home run. He hit .319 that year and then was moved to Danville, where he was selected as the minor league rookie to be featured on the Omnibus television show.

The next season, 1955, he played for Johnstown, Pa., hitting .314, and then was called by Uncle Sam. After two years in the service he went to Corpus Christi and his good season there last year gave him his chance this year.

Al is a recent bridegroom. He sells real estate in the winter time. He played winter ball in Mexico after he came out of the service.

Frostburg To Field Grid Team

Bobcats Hope To Open 1960 Season

FROSTBURG, Md. (AP)—Frostburg State Teachers College announced Wednesday it will begin playing football in the fall of 1960 if the State Board of Education approves.

College President R. Bowen Hardesty said the decision was reached after a secret ballot of the student body. Of more than 700 enrolled in the four-year college, 330 are men.

Frostburg will be the first of Maryland's five teachers colleges to field a football team. The Bobcats already play basketball, baseball, soccer, track and tennis.

Saturday afternoon and night and home games are planned. Arrangements have been completed with the Allegany County Board of Education for use of Beall High School's stadium.

Hardesty said Frostburg would begin looking for a head coach if the board approves the move and he hopes to have him on the payroll by next September to teach physical education and work out details of the football season. Tentatively, scrimmage will begin Aug. 16, 1960.

Nothing has been done as yet on a schedule. The college maintenance department will prepare a temporary practice field behind Compton Hall.

Hardesty expressed the opinion last fall that football would help enrollment at Frostburg. He said Wednesday there would be no scholarships for football since other varsity sports have none. He also emphasized there would be no aid for game equipment or operational expenses.

Mental Case

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) —Albert Charles Gauden, who rode a horse in a bar last January and sat on it while he drank a pint of beer, cannot stand trial for drunk and disorderly conduct. A court was told Wednesday he has been certified a mental patient.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥

Opening lead: Jack of ♠.

A bit of carelessness on the part of declarer in his handling of a ruffing situation proved costly in today's hand.

Against the four heart contract, West opened the jack of spades. East ducked, declarer won with the queen and crossed to dummy with a trump to lead a club toward his king. West won and followed up with a trump. On another club lead West was in again to lead still another heart removing dummy's last trump and forcing declarer to lose three culbs and a diamond for down one.

South had learned the elementary lesson about leading toward high cards too well. Handling the club suit in this manner would have been quite proper if declarer could have reached dummy without consuming a trump. The fact is declarer could have assured his contract by leading two clubs from his own hand without touching trumps. A club ruff could not then be prevented.

South had failed to distinguish himself in the bidding. After North's single raise South was within himself on the jump to game, but it seems to this department that a rebid of three no trump would have been preferable. North with his evenly balanced hand would have been pleased to accept that contract and no amount of ineptness on the part of declarer would prevent the landing of the game.

Against the major suit game East and West had a sound defense, namely the opening of a trump which on bidding sequences of this type is usually effective, though the spade lead is a reasonable alternative. After the trump opening with natural play declarer must fall short of his goal.

Advisory Board Meets Saturday

The Salvation Army Advisory Board will hold a special meeting Saturday at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, according to Robert G. Garner, chairman.

Definite action on the South Cumberland building project will be taken at the meeting.

Closing Sylvan Retreat Draws Opposition Here

Many Allegany County residents appear to be firmly opposed to the idea suggested several weeks ago by the County Board of Commissioners to close Sylvan Retreat.

Tuesday, Commissioner William A. Wilson turned in a letter addressed to him urging retention of Sylvan Retreat. This particular letter had about 150 signers. There also were individual letters from Mrs. Calvin S. Keiter, Miss Dorothy Willison and Mrs. Marian D. Sharp urging that Sylvan Retreat remain open.

The first government employment bureau was established in Paris, France, in 1843.

MARYLAND MY MARYLAND

We dedicate our song to thee,
Maryland, My Maryland,
The home of light and liberty,
Maryland, My Maryland,
We love thy streams and wooded hills,
Thy mountains with their gushing rills,
Thy scenes our hearts with rapture fill—
Maryland, My Maryland.

In twain the Chesapeake divides
Maryland, My Maryland,
While oceanward its water glides,
Maryland, My Maryland,
Yet we in thought and purpose one
Pursue the work, so well begun,
And may our State be ne'er outdone,
Maryland, My Maryland.

★★★★★★★★★★

Proud sons and daughters boast of thee,
Maryland, My Maryland,
Thine is a precious history,
Maryland, My Maryland,
Brave hearts have held thy honor dear,
Have met the foemen far and near,
But victory has furnished cheer,
Maryland, My Maryland.

"Sail on, sail on, O Ship of State!"
Maryland, My Maryland,
May we, thy children, make thee great,

Advisory Board Meets Saturday

The Salvation Army Advisory Board will hold a special meeting Saturday at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, according to Robert G. Garner, chairman.

Definite action on the South Cumberland building project will be taken at the meeting.

Closing Sylvan Retreat Draws Opposition Here

Many Allegany County residents appear to be firmly opposed to the idea suggested several weeks ago by the County Board of Commissioners to close Sylvan Retreat.

Tuesday, Commissioner William A. Wilson turned in a letter addressed to him urging retention of Sylvan Retreat. This particular letter had about 150 signers. There also were individual letters from Mrs. Calvin S. Keiter, Miss Dorothy Willison and Mrs. Marian D. Sharp urging that Sylvan Retreat remain open.

The first government employment bureau was established in Paris, France, in 1843.

Professional Drivers Hit Point System

Senate Committee Hears Objections

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Spokesmen for professional drivers said Wednesday the odds are stacked 5 to 1 against them in a proposed penalty point system for license revocation.

Representatives of taxi drivers, truckers and other commercial drivers urged the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee to make the law more lenient with professional drivers.

The House has already passed the point system bill which automatically levies points for certain violations. It calls for automatic suspension of a pleasure motorist's license when eight points are accumulated within three years and automatic revocation at 12 points.

Seek Point Spread

Professional drivers would be allowed to pick up 15 points before suspension and 18 before revocation. But teamster spokesmen said the law should go even further in concessions to commercial drivers.

Thomas E. Bracken, representing professional drivers, said such men drive between 50,000 and 60,000 miles a year compared to 10,000 for the average motorist. The commercial motorist drives five times as many miles and the point spread should be proportionate, he said.

Leroy M. Griffin of Baltimore, representing Teamster Joint Council No. 62, urged the committee to strike out the reciprocal provisions of the act. He said these are unfair to Maryland's interstate truckers who may be victims of "speed traps" and other such law enforcement devices in other states.

Double Jeopardy?

While the point system bill was roundly criticized only favorable comment was offered on a companion bill to establish chemical tests as evidence against persons suspected of drunken driving.

Maryland State Police officials said the tests, which would be optional to the driver involved, would "convict the guilty and protect the innocent (persons who may have symptoms of drunkenness because of illness or other reasons)."

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

ABL Develops Two Stages Of Versatile New Rocket

Air Force And NASA Will Use 'Scout'

Solid propellants made at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near here will help power the Scout, a cheap and versatile new rocket, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced yesterday.

The NASA said the third and fourth stages of the Scout will be propellants developed at ABL, which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance.

The third stage of the rocket will be a scaled-up version of the third-stage engine developed by Hercules for the Vanguard satellite vehicle.

The Scout's fourth stage will be the engine developed for Vanguard, and which has been used in Air Force lunar probes.

Officials call Scout the "poor man's rocket" because its price is substantially less than that of others with similar size and capability—about $500,000.

Initial tests of the 35,000-pound 70-foot Scout will be held by mid-June 1960, according to the space agency.

NASA plans to use Scout for orbital and high-altitude shots, while the Air Force plans to use it to test guidance systems and other things.

It could put 150 pounds into orbit or send a payload of about 100 pounds to an altitude of 5,000 miles.

Banquet To Be Held After Initiation

John J. Rorick, chairman of fraternal activities of Cumberland Council 586, announced last night 55 candidates from five councils will receive second degree work on Sunday, April 5, beginning at 2 p.m. at the council home here.

Mr. Firlie said the class will be named in honor of the grand knights of the five councils. They are Joseph A. Soethe, Cumberland; Paul F. Jackson, Frostburg; James J. Brailer, Mt. Savage; James B. Nally, Oakland, and Raymond Beckner, Piedmont.

The banquet will be prepared and served by the Christian Mothers of SS. Peter and Paul parish, Mr. Rorick said.

Keech Unhurt As Airplane Ground-Loops

Mayor J. Edwin Keech escaped injury yesterday afternoon when a light plane in which he was riding ground-looped on Runway 22 at Friendship Airport near Baltimore.

It is believed the braking mechanism or controls locked, causing the plane to ground-loop. The craft skidded across the runway, knocked over a runway light and came to rest on a grassy plot.

Mayor Keech and the pilot were "shaken up," but escaped injury. The craft was not badly damaged, according to airport officials.

Contract Talks Are Opened At Kelly Plant

Contract negotiations between Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union of America, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company began here yesterday morning.

The union is seeking a number of amendments and modifications in its contract which is due to expire on May 1. This basic agreement covering some 1,650 hourly-paid workers at the local tire plant was last amended two years ago.

Also to be discussed are proposed changes in pension and insurance plans, supplemental unemployment benefits, and severance pay.

A. E. Johnson, president of Local 26, said the last items are covered in a separate agreement which is open for discussion at this time.

Wages are not an issue at this time, he said.

The contract negotiations will be in charge of a committee including Mr. Johnson, George Simmons and Paul Ritter, for engineering workers, and Herbert Dye and Eugene Brown, for production workers.

William A. Kuehner, Pittsburgh, field representative for the Rubber Workers union, will assist Local 26 in the negotiations.

$100,000 Bond Plan For School Grounds Slated

Improvements Listed In Proposed Bill

The Allegany County Delegation drafted a bill which would authorize the County Commissioners to improve the grounds of eight schools through a $100,000 bond issue.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said last night that the legislation had been drafted but had yet to be cleared by the delegates.

He said the funds would be authorized for school ground improvements recommended by the Board of Education.

The projects, listed in alphabetical order, are located at Allegany High School, Carver School, Fort Hill High School, Hill Street Elementary School in Frostburg, LaVale Elementary School, Oldtown Elementary — High School, Valley High School and Westernport High School.

Is For Grounds

The proposed legislation limits the use of the funds to retaining walls, fencing, sidewalks, grading, surfacing and other necessary improvements, as determined by the Board of Education.

Del. Driscoll said the bill would authorize the County Commissioners to raise the funds through the sale of bonds or any other means.

He stressed that the funds are to be used purely for improvements to the grounds of schools.

The legislation is the outgrowth of blacktop bills introduced in the Senate and House. Both were mandatory bills requiring the County Commissioners to finance the blacktopping of the Beall Elementary School Playground.

They were introduced by Senator Charles M. See and Delegate Lester B. Reed.

Del. Driscoll said a meeting was held yesterday with Sen. See, backer of the Beall bill, and county school officials.

Back Senate Bill

First, on a motion by Del. Noel Speir Cook, the delegation presented a favorable report to the bill making the blacktopping of the Beall Elementary playground mandatory.

Then Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, with Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent, and Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, presented a list of projects that are needed on school grounds.

Del. Driscoll said the delegation will sponsor a bill that would enable, and not make mandatory, the issuance of the necessary bond issue by the county commissioners.

Enacts Garrett Bill

The House Tuesday night enacted House Bill 514, sponsored by Garrett County Delegates Savage and Bray.

The House on Tuesday passed House Bill 698, sponsored by Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., which would require halted vehicles to have lights visible for 300 feet in front and behind.

Del. Conlon also has introduced House Bill 888, which requires motor vehicles parked along highways to exhibit a white or amber light on the front.

Montgomery, Pasternak Volumes New At Library

A number of new books are available at the Cumberland Free Public Library, Miss Elizabeth Cain, library assistant, announced.

Jerry Silverman has compiled, edited and arranged 110 American Folk Blues for voice, piano and guitar. This volume does not require advanced techniques — nor has it been over-simplified.

Miss Cain pointed out that "Scramble Six Hurricanes," by Donald Moore is one of the most exciting novels of war at sea. This is an authentic story of an Arctic convoy.

"Once To Sinai," by H. F. M. Prescott, gives a flawless picture of the medieval age. The author describes the wanderings of Friar Felix Fabri on the return from his second Jerusalem expedition, beyond the horizon of the then known world.

"Abandon Ship," by Richard F. Newcomb, relates the adventures at sea, and a vividly documented account of the torpedoing of the Indianapolis, flagship of the Fifth Fleet, by a Japanese submarine.

"Dr. Zhivago," by Boris Pasternak is the description of a Russian intellectual's search for spiritual independence. Awarded the Nobel Prize, this work has attained world-wide fame and distinction and currently heads the best seller lists.

Brothers On Same Ship

Jerry Lee Corley (left) and John Richard Corley (right), sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Corley, 120 South Mechanic Street, are serving aboard the Rushmore LSD 14, in Cuban waters. Both young men are former students of Fort Hill High School. Their parents report that John Richard was recently admitted to Portsmouth Naval Hospital for an eye injury but he is recovering and expects to rejoin his brother aboard ship.

Embalmer's License Bill Is Revived By Delegation

The Allegany County Delegation has introduced House Bill 765, which would allow the Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers to issue an embalmer's license under rather restricted conditions.

The person qualifying must have been a licensed funeral director in Maryland and must have had not less than 25 years of practical experience in the profession.

It calls for the board to give a "practical examination," and a second test without additional fee if the applicant fails to pass the first examination.

Any applicant who wishes to take advantage of the bill must submit his application not later than July 1, a month after the bill takes effect.

A legislator explained the bill is intended for an employe of a funeral director who failed to take the embalmer's examination before a time limit lapsed.

"It has been put in before," he added.

Garden Clubs Back C&O Park, Oppose Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Washington area garden clubs Wednesday came forth in protest of a proposed dam at River Bend on the Potomac River.

Club officers said such a dam, which would be just above Great Falls, would mean the loss of some of the most significant parts of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal through flooding.

The invited views were expressed at a hearing on legislation which would create a Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park.

Several bills are being considered by a House Interior Subcommittee headed by Rep. Gracie Pfost (D-Idaho). Certain of the measures would reserve specific land areas from park development until Army Engineers have offered a comprehensive Potomac River Basin plan.

Spokesmen for the garden clubs said they preferred a bill by Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa) to turn the entire 185-mile stretch of the area into park development.

A National Council of Garden Clubs spokesman, Mrs. C. D. Shoemaker, said the club members do not want to take the attitude of opposing the water needs of the Washington area.

Mrs. Benjamin A. Powell of the National Capital Garden Club, said a water supply for the Washington area is of paramount interest. She added, however, that the group feels that a high dam should be constructed only as a last resort.

The President of the Potomac River Development Assn., Albert K. Herling, urged approval of a bill which would curb park development of the River Bend section pending a report from Army engineers.

Herling, of Greenbelt, Md., said, "We believe a middleground is needed, and we feel the reserved 30 or 35 mile strip is quite fair as a middleground between those who would see a dam, regardless of the park, and those who would seek a park, regardless of a dam."

The hearing continues Thursday.

Burglars Hit 3 Schools At Hyndman

Safe Is Removed From One Building

A safe containing an undisclosed amount of money was stolen from one of three schools of Hyndman and area which were burglarized late Tuesday or early yesterday, Pennsylvania authorities reported last night.

They said a safe weighing about 400 pounds was carried from the Hyndman-Londonderry Township High School. An undisclosed amount of money was in the safe.

Police said they were notified yesterday morning by school authirities who said the high school was broken into by someone who forced a door.

The grade school next to the high school was also broken into, although apparently nothing was taken. The intruders broke a glass in a door to gain entrance, said police.

Also burglarized was an intermediate school located about a mile north of Hyndman on State Route 36. Police said a door was forced open and about $25 in currency was taken from the principal's office.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford are assisting Police Chief Paul Wise of Hyndman in investigating the burglaries.

The tour will begin on the Mt. Airy Farm, Clear Spring. Other stops will be at the Renwood Farm, Hagerstown and the Spring Meadow Farm in Smithsburg.

The cropping program, horizontal silos, management of the brood cow and herd sires, production testing, advantages and disadvantages of automatic feeding, will be among the subjects to be discussed at the various stops.

Mercury Soars To 78, Year's Warmest Day

An official high of 78 degrees recorded in Cumberland yesterday was the warmest temperature reading this year, according to Robert Golden, weather observer.

Mr. Golden said the relative humidity dipped to 11.5 per cent on Tuesday afternoon and the percentage was the lowest he recalls in his many years in observing the weather. He said a "healthy humidity" is in the mid-30s. By noon yesterday the relative humidity was 27 per cent.

There is a chance of showers in the mountains this afternoon or evening and the temperature is expected to range between 68 and 77 degrees.

Water Project Is Completed

The Shades Lane water project is being completed this week by the Water Department.

The project included the installation of about 3,600 feet of water line running from the intersection of Shades Lane and Oakland Street to just beyond the city line.

It was a bargain line, planned by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light after the Hout Construction Company, whose quarters are located just outside the city limits, agreed to ditch and backfill for the privilege of getting water service.

Liquor Bill Passes House

The much debated liquor bill passed the House Tuesday night and was sent to the Senate.

It is House Bill 352, sponsored by Delegates Conlon, Cook, Driscoll and Walsh, as amended by agreement of the House Alcoholic Beverage committee.

It provides for a referendum in 1960, when county voters would decide whether to permit liquor sales until 1 a.m. or to move back the bar closing time to midnight.

A second liquor bill sponsored by Dels. Lester B. Reed and Kelley to prohibit sales after midnight is bottled up in the Alcoholic Beverage committee.

District Forest Fire Danger Is Termed Critical

Caution Urged By Foresters

He said the danger of forest fire in Allegany County is high and a medium fire danger prevails in Garrett County, where the fire index was 35 yesterday, a Class 3 Day.

Mr. Johnson said that his district of four counties has been plagued with grass and brush fires in recent days.

Yesterday a small fire burned about a tenth of an acre of woodland near Pratt on U.S. Route 40 between Polish and Green Ridge mountains east of Cumberland.

The district forester said that because of the fire danger it is fortunate that the wind has not been brisk in the past week.

The foresters are anxiously awaiting a much-needed rain in the district. Mr. Johnson is urging all residents to use caution in averting serious forest fires.

Local firemen and volunteers throughout the area have been kept busy in recent days fighting brush and grass fires.

Many of the fires being burned by local and area residents flared out of control and the assistance of firemen was needed.

West Virginia Has 150 Forest Fires

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— West Virginia's forest fire situation grew steadily worse Wednesday with at least 150 blazes burning over the state.

Assistant State Forester Asher W. Kelly said 84 of the fires had been reported in the southwestern area of the state where 40 persons already have been prosecuted for forest fire violations.

He said most of the violations had been for burning between the hours of 5 a. m. and 5 p. m., prohibited during the statutory spring and fall fire seasons. Kelly said another 19 cases are pending.

"We had a burning index of 95-to-110 Tuesday," Kelly said, "and it was even higher Wednesday. Anything over 40 is considered hazardous."

The three-county area of Lewis, Upshur and Barbour counties was reported to have the biggest fire potential since 1953. Kelly said the fires now burning and those anticipated presented a "big obstacle" unless there is a substantial rainfall.

Surplus Food Signup Planned

Persons in Allegany County who received surplus food last December and who are not receiving public assistance, must be re-certified by March 31 in order to receive foodstuffs for April.

Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the donable food program for Allegany County, said these persons have been notified by mail and must be re-certified with him at his office on the second floor of the County Building on Union Street.

He added those persons who have been receiving assistance through the Allegany County Welfare Board do not have to be cleared again to receive food next month.

Other ministers who will take part in the service will be Rev. E. G. Teyssier, Rev. Harold L. May, Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, Rev. B. F. Hartman, Rev. William Anderson, Rev. W. W. Patterson and Rev. William Harpold.

Professional Drivers Hit Point System

Senate Committee Hears Objections

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Spokesmen for professional drivers said Wednesday the odds are stacked 5 to 1 against them in a proposed penalty point system for license revocation.

Representatives of taxi drivers, truckers and other commercial drivers urged the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee to make the law more lenient with professional drivers.

The House has already passed the point system bill which automatically levies points for certain violations. It calls for automatic suspension of a pleasure motorist's license when eight points are accumulated within three years and automatic revocation at 12 points.

Seek Point Spread

Professional drivers would be allowed to pick up 15 points before suspension and 18 before revocation. But teamster spokesmen said the law should go even further in concessions to commercial drivers.

Thomas E. Bracken, representing professional drivers, said such men drive between 50,000 and 60,000 miles a year compared to 10,000 for the average motorist. The commercial motorist drives five times as many miles and the point spread should be proportionate, he said.

Leroy M. Griffin of Baltimore, representing Teamster Joint Council No. 62, urged the committee to strike out the reciprocal provisions of the act. He said these are unfair to Maryland's interstate truckers who may be victims of "speed traps" and other such law enforcement devices in other states.

Double Jeopardy?

Edwin Glenn, a Washington cab driver, questioned the constitutionality of the proposed law on "double jeopardy" grounds.

While the point system bill was roundly criticized only favorable comment was offered on a companion bill to establish chemical tests as evidence against persons suspected of drunken driving.

Maryland State Police officials said the tests, which would be optional to the driver involved, would "convict the guilty and protect the innocent (persons who may have symptoms of drunkenness because of illness or other reasons)."

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

ABL Develops Two Stages Of Versatile New Rocket

Air Force And NASA Will Use 'Scout'

Solid propellants made at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near here will help power the Scout, a cheap and versatile new rocket, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced yesterday.

The NASA said the third and fourth stages of the Scout will be propellants developed at ABL, which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance.

The third stage of the rocket will be a scaled-up version of the third-stage engine developed by Hercules for the Vanguard satellite vehicle.

The Scout's fourth stage will be the engine developed for Vanguard, and which has been used in Air Force lunar probes.

Officials call Scout the "poor man's rocket" because its price is substantially less than that of others with similar size and capability—about $500,000.

Initial tests of the 35,000-pound 70-foot Scout will be held by mid-June 1960, according to the space agency.

NASA plans to use Scout for orbital and high-altitude shots, while the Air Force plans to use it to test guidance systems and other things.

It could put 150 pounds into orbit or send a payload of about 100 pounds to an altitude of 5,000 miles.

Keech Unhurt As Airplane Ground-Loops

Mayor J. Edwin Keech escaped injury yesterday afternoon when a light plane in which he was riding ground-looped on Runway 22 at Friendship Airport near Baltimore.

It is believed the braking mechanism or controls locked, causing the plane to ground-loop. The craft skidded across the runway, knocked over a runway light and came to rest on a grassy plot.

Mayor Keech and the pilot were "shaken up," but escaped injury. The craft was not badly damaged, according to airport officials.

$100,000 Bond Plan For School Grounds Slated

Improvements Listed In Proposed Bill

The Allegany County Delegation drafted a bill which would authorize the County Commissioners to improve the grounds of eight schools through a $100,000 bond issue.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said last night that the legislation had been drafted but had yet to be cleared by the delegates.

He said the funds would be authorized for school ground improvements recommended by the Board of Education.

The projects, listed in alphabetical order, are located at Allegany High School, Carver School, Fort Hill High School, Hill Street Elementary School in Frostburg, LaVale Elementary School, Oldtown Elementary — High School, Valley High School and Westernport High School.

Is For Grounds

The proposed legislation limits the use of the funds to retaining walls, fencing, sidewalks, grading, surfacing and other necessary improvements, as determined by the Board of Education.

Del. Driscoll said the bill would authorize the County Commissioners to raise the funds through the sale of bonds or any other means.

He stressed that the funds are to be used purely for improvements to the grounds of schools.

The legislation is the outgrowth of blacktop bills introduced in the Senate and House. Both were mandatory bills requiring the County Commissioners to finance the blacktopping of the Beall Elementary School Playground.

They were introduced by Senator Charles M. See and Delegate Lester B. Reed.

Del. Driscoll said a meeting was held yesterday with Sen. See, backer of the Beall bill, and county school officials.

Back Senate Bill

First, on a motion by Del. Noel Speir Cook, the delegation presented a favorable report to the bill making the blacktopping of the Beall Elementary playground mandatory.

Then Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, with Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent, and Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, presented a list of projects that are needed on school grounds.

Del. Driscoll said the delegation will sponsor a bill that would enable, and not make mandatory, the issuance of the necessary bond issue by the county commissioners.

Enacts Garrett Bill

The House Tuesday night enacted House Bill 514, sponsored by Garrett County Delegates Savage and Bray.

It requires notices to the supervisor of assessments of the county before buildings are erected or constructed.

The House on Tuesday passed House Bill 698, sponsored by Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., which would require halted vehicles to have lights visible for 300 feet in front and behind.

Del. Conlon also has introduced House Bill 888, which requires motor vehicles parked along highways to exhibit a white or amber light on the front.

Montgomery, Pasternak Volumes New At Library

She said "The Memoirs of Field Marshal Montgomery," presents the life story of one of the most outstanding military leaders of our time.

Jerry Silverman has compiled, edited and arranged 110 American Folk Blues for voice, piano and guitar. This volume does not require advanced techniques — nor has it been over-simplified.

Miss Cain pointed out that "Scramble Six Hurricanes," by Donald Moore is one of the most exciting novels of war at sea. This is an authentic story of an Arctic convoy.

"Once To Sinai," by H. F. M. Prescott, gives a flawless picture of the medieval age. The author describes the wanderings of Friar Felix Fabri on the return from his second Jerusalem expedition, beyond the horizon of the then known world.

"Abandon Ship," by Richard F. Newcomb, relates the adventures at sea, and a vividly documented account of the torpedoing of the Indianapolis, flagship of the Fifth Fleet, by a Japanese submarine.

"Dr. Zhivago," by Boris Pasternak is the description of a Russian intellectual's search for spiritual independence. Awarded the Nobel Prize, this work has attained world-wide fame and distinction and currently heads the best seller lists.

Embalmer's License Bill Is Revived By Delegation

The Allegany County Delegation has introduced House Bill 765, which would allow the Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers to issue an embalmer's license under rather restricted conditions.

The person qualifying must have been a licensed funeral director in Maryland and must have had not less than 25 years of practical experience in the profession.

It calls for the board to give a "practical examination," and a second test without additional fee if the applicant fails to pass the first examination.

Any applicant who wishes to take advantage of the bill must submit his application not later than July 1, a month after the bill takes effect.

A legislator explained the bill is intended for an employe of a funeral director who failed to take the embalmer's examination before a time limit lapsed.

"It has been put in before," he added.

Garden Clubs Back C&O Park, Oppose Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Washington area garden clubs Wednesday came forth in protest of a proposed dam at River Bend on the Potomac River.

Club officers said such a dam, which would be just above Great Falls, would mean the loss of some of the most significant parts of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal through flooding.

The invited views were expressed at a hearing on legislation which would create a Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park.

Several bills are being considered by a House Interior Subcommittee headed by Rep. Gracie Pfost (D-Idaho). Certain of the measures would reserve specific land areas from park development until Army Engineers have offered a comprehensive Potomac River Basin plan.

Spokesmen for the garden clubs said they preferred a bill by Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa) to turn the entire 185-mile stretch of the area into park development.

A National Council of Garden Clubs spokesman, Mrs. C. D. Shoemaker, said the club members do not want to take the attitude of opposing the water needs of the Washington area.

Mrs. Benjamin A. Powell of the National Capital Garden Club, said a water supply for the Washington area is of paramount interest. She added, however, that the group feels that a high dam should be constructed only as a last resort.

The President of the Potomac River Development Assn., Albert K. Herling, urged approval of a bill which would curb park development of the River Bend section pending a report from Army engineers.

Herling, of Greenbelt, Md., said, "We believe a middleground is needed, and we feel the reserved 30 or 35 mile strip is quite fair as a middleground between those who would see a dam, regardless of the park, and those who would seek a park, regardless of a dam."

The hearing continues Thursday.

Safe Is Removed From One Building

A safe containing an undisclosed amount of money was stolen from one of three schools of Hyndman and area which were burglarized late Tuesday or early yesterday, Pennsylvania authorities reported last night.

About $25 in currency was taken from the principal's office of one of the other schools, police added.

They said a safe weighing about 400 pounds was carried from the Hyndman-Londonderry Township High School. An undisclosed amount of money was in the safe.

Police said they were notified yesterday morning by school authirities who said the high school was broken into by someone who forced a door.

The grade school next to the high school was also broken into, although apparently nothing was taken. The intruders broke a glass in a door to gain entrance, said police.

Also burglarized was an intermediate school located about a mile north of Hyndman on State Route 36. Police said a door was forced open and about $25 in currency was taken from the principal's office.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford are assisting Police Chief Paul Wise of Hyndman in investigating the burglaries.

Water Project Is Completed

The Shades Lane water project is being completed this week by the Water Department.

The project included the installation of about 3,600 feet of water line running from the intersection of Shades Lane and Oakland Street to just beyond the city line.

Liquor Bill Passes House

The much debated liquor bill passed the House Tuesday night and was sent to the Senate.

It is House Bill 352, sponsored by Delegates Conlon, Cook, Driscoll and Walsh, as amended by agreement of the House Alcoholic Beverage committee.

It provides for a referendum in 1960, when county voters would decide whether to permit liquor sales until 1 a.m. or to move back the bar closing time to midnight.

District Forest Fire Danger Is Termed Critical

Caution Urged By Foresters

The danger of forest fires in Washington and Frederick counties east of Cumberland has reached the "critical" stage, William H. Johnson, district forester, announced yesterday.

A fire index of 130 and a Class 5 day (maximum danger) was reported in that section of the state yesterday, Mr. Johnson added.

He said the danger of forest fire in Allegany County is high and a medium fire danger prevails in Garrett County, where the fire index was 35 yesterday, a Class 3 Day.

Mr. Johnson said that his district of four counties has been plagued with grass and brush fires in recent days.

Yesterday a small fire burned about a tenth of an acre of woodland near Pratt on U.S. Route 40 between Polish and Green Ridge mountains east of Cumberland.

The district forester said that because of the fire danger it is fortunate that the wind has not been brisk in the past week.

The foresters are anxiously awaiting a much-needed rain in the district. Mr. Johnson is urging all residents to use caution in averting serious forest fires.

Local firemen and volunteers throughout the area have been kept busy in recent days fighting brush and grass fires.

Many of the fires being burned by local and area residents flared out of control and the assistance of firemen was needed.

West Virginia Has 150 Forest Fires

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— West Virginia's forest fire situation grew steadily worse Wednesday with at least 150 blazes burning over the state.

Assistant State Forester Asher W. Kelly said 84 of the fires had been reported in the southwestern area of the state where 40 persons already have been prosecuted for forest fire violations.

He said most of the violations had been for burning between the hours of 5 a. m. and 5 p. m., prohibited during the statutory spring and fall fire seasons. Kelly said another 19 cases are pending.

The forester emphasized that the hazard continued to grow with rising temperatures and the lack of rain.

"We had a burning index of 95-to-110 Tuesday," Kelly said, "and it was even higher Wednesday. Anything over 40 is considered hazardous."

The three-county area of Lewis, Upshur and Barbour counties was reported to have the biggest fire potential since 1953. Kelly said the fires now burning and those anticipated presented a "big obstacle" unless there is a substantial rainfall.

Surplus Food Signup Planned

Persons in Allegany County who received surplus food last December and who are not receiving public assistance, must be re-certified by March 31 in order to receive foodstuffs for April.

Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the donable food program for Allegany County, said these persons have been notified by mail and must be re-certified with him at his office on the second floor of the County Building on Union Street.

He added those persons who have been receiving assistance through the Allegany County Welfare Board do not have to be cleared again to receive food next month.
